

LeFevre to Retire As Congressman; To Pick Successor

'Pressure of Business' Is Reason Given; Senator Wicks Praises His Record; Nominating Committee Will Meet to Select 30th District Candidate

Congressman Jay LeFevre's decision to retire as representative of the 30th Congressional District was announced at a meeting of five county Republican chairmen in this city Saturday afternoon.

In revealing that the county leaders had accepted Congressman LeFevre's decision, State Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks, Ulster county leader, praised LeFevre's eight-year record in Congress. "Pressure of business" was the announced reason for LeFevre's retirement.

Delegates Warned Job Surveys Will Injure Employes

Civil Service Forum Ends 39th Annual Meeting With Election of New Officers

The 39th annual convention of the New York State Civil Service Forum drew to a close Sunday after the approximately 300 delegates meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel here heard a warning that "job surveys" of wages and working conditions will demoralize public employes.

Robert W. Brady, president of the New York City Forum, contended that "scientific surveys and job analysis classification studies must not be initiated with the avowed purpose of curtailing the employes' right to a decent annual income."

While advocating the need for economy in government, Brady decried the recent practice of appointing what he termed "technical advisers" in public affairs when the work could have been done by civil service personnel.

Hits 'Tricky Ratings'

The convention in its business meeting Saturday hit at prohibitive job requirements, "tricky combinations of ratings," "irrelevant questions and 'lack of funds' as an excuse to deprive employes of a right to advancement."

The forum also endorsed a plan to increase the constitutional debt limit on real estate from two to two and one-half per cent of assessed valuation. Repeal of the Condon-Wadlin anti-strike law was also recommended by resolution.

Raymond C. Kelly of Yonkers was re-elected president of the state Civil Service Forum. Leopold V. Rossi of New York, who had been acting secretary, was elected secretary.

Other officers who were re-elected included Stephen F. Irwin, financial secretary; John D. Keller, treasurer; and Albert G. Wozniak of Buffalo, executive vice president.

Vice-presidents re-elected were: Robert W. Brady, New York; John J. Dempsey, Yonkers; Lawrence T. Mullen, New York; George W. Murray, New York; Edward P. Butler, New York; Eva Brown, Binghamton; Maurice Sheehan, Ossining; John C. Miller, Albany; Ann Miller, Rochester; Stanley Jacobson, Kingston; and Thomas J. McGee, New York.

Albany was designated as the convention site for 1951.

Local delegates to the convention were Herbert Powell and William Leonard, members of a state labor department inspectors' unit. Most of Kingston's municipal civil service workers are members of the New York State Civil Service Employees Association, which is not affiliated with the forum.

Corning Declines

Albany, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—Mayor Ernest Corning declined today to accept a movement to nominate him as the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor. Corning reiterated that he was not a candidate for any state office this year, and declared: "If nominating me would mean the acceptance of the Young Democrats of the Affiliated Young Democrats of the New York state endorsed Corning yesterday for lieutenant governor. Corning was defeated for that office in 1946 by Republican Joe R. Hanley.

One Killed, 3 Hurt

Charleston, W. Va., June 19 (AP)—One man was killed and three others injured yesterday in two separate highway accidents at a curve on U. S. Route 60 about nine miles east of Charleston. Thomas Virgil Kogley, Jr., 16, of Hurt, Va., died after a car he was driving plunged 125 feet into a ravine. State Trooper H. M. Starbuck said. Also in the car and injured were Raymond Hanley, 20, and Thomas Gilbert, 27, both of Hurt.

Erickson Pleads to 60 Counts

New York, June 19 (AP)—Millionaire gambler Frank Erickson pleaded guilty today to charges of conspiracy and bookmaking.

Erickson, admitted operator of a nationwide bookmaking business, made the plea when he was brought into Special Sessions Court for the opening of his trial.

The plea of guilty to all 60 counts against him was entered by his attorney, Sol Gelb, who told Justice Nathan D. Perlman:

"The defendant wishes to withdraw his plea of not guilty and plead guilty to the information."

Penalties Involved

The maximum penalty on each count of the charge is a year in jail and a $500 fine, which makes the big-time gambler subject to a possible sentence of 60 years in prison and $30,000 in fines.

The information charged one count of conspiracy and 59 counts of bookmaking. District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said he would ask the "stiffest sentence" for the gambler.

Justice Perlman set June 26 for sentencing.

The plump, balding defendant, dressed in a dark blue suit with white pencil stripes and a light grey tie, stood beside the defense table, as his attorneys entered the plea.

Erickson was continued in $10,000 bail.

After Gelb entered the plea, the judge turned to Erickson and asked:

"Does the defendant plead guilty to each of the 60 counts?"

"Yes," Erickson replied.

His fingers pressed hard against the table top, but his face appeared without emotion.

DeWitt Gets Jail Term on Charge

Tried to Hamper Blazo Investigation, They Declare

Harry DeWitt, 67, of 38 Emerick street, was sentenced to 30 days in jail by City Judge Raymond J. Mino today on a disorderly conduct charge following the complaint of firemen that he had attempted to interfere with their investigation of a reported fire.

The arrest was on the information of Fireman Clayton A. Stalter, Police Capt. William T. Reddell said.

The call for the fire was at 11:25 p. m., and five minutes later police headquarters was notified that DeWitt had ordered the firemen from the house. Officers Walter Van Stoenburgh and George Loughran were sent to investigate.

Firemen said the house was filled with smoke when they arrived and the condition was apparently due to the burning of food on a stove.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today the trouble apparently had started with DeWitt after Deputy Fire Chief George Matthews ordered a fireman to get upstairs and take the necessary steps to ventilate the house.

DeWitt, the firemen to get out, the chief said, and the police were notified. Meanwhile, firemen found another person in the house, who was taken out into the air, by Fireman Walter F. Madajewski, Chief Murphy said.

Another slight fire was reported at 10 a. m. Sunday. It was a blaze under the floor board of a 1941 Buick sedan, owned by David Conlin, 14 Davis street, on Abbot street. Conlin drove the car to Cornell fire station, where the blaze was quenched.

Housewives Raided

New York, June 19 (AP)—Police raided a pre-dawn poker game today. The haul: 14 women, most of them middle-aged housewives.

A.N.P.A. Manager Says U.S. Papers Gobble Up Newsprint

Washington, June 19 (AP)—A spokesman for the American Newspaper Publishers Association said today U. S. newspapers are using up newsprint faster than they can get it, with no sign of a slackening demand.

Cranston Williams, general manager of the A.N.P.A., said in testimony prepared for House monopoly investigators that "while there have been no instances reported of U. S. newspapers having to suspend publication because of a lack of newsprint, the available supply is becoming increasingly tight."

"At the end of May, stocks of newsprint in the hands of publishers reporting to our association were down to an average of 30 days supply. The average at the end of May for the past 10 years was 40 days supply."

Williams was called for testimony by a House judiciary subcommittee headed by Rep. Celler (D-N. Y.). The Celler group, seeking signs of monopolistic action among industries in this and other countries, recently completed a series of hearings into the steel situation.

Hanley Reveals Candidacy; Wicks Might Be on Ticket

Wicks Sees No Trouble For Hanley

Announces Full Backing for Long-Time Friend in State Legislature; Others Voice Aid

None Can Stop Him

Wicks Also Says He Knows of None Out Against Hanley

Endorsement of Lt. Governor Joe R. Hanley for the Republican nomination for governor was announced by State Senator Arthur H. Wicks in this city Saturday immediately after word was received here of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's refusal to run for reelection.

Wicks, Senate Majority Leader, who was himself prominently mentioned for the gubernatorial nomination, left no doubt that he would give his full support to Hanley, for many years a close friend in the state legislature. Wicks told The Freeman he called Lt. Gov. Hanley Saturday morning and "assured him of support of the 30th Congressional District for his nomination for governor."

The support of this district was quick in coming, because the Republican chairman of the five counties were meeting in this city with Congressman Jay LeFevre to discuss LeFevre's decision to retire from Congress.

The county chairmen who were attending a meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel Saturday, when Governor Dewey's intention of retiring from the race for governor was announced, were Frederick H. Bontecou of Dutchess county; Milton S. Sprague of Columbia; Milton G. Bailey of Greene; J. Robert Johnson of Sullivan and Senator Wicks of Ulster county.

Regrets Decision

Senator Wicks also said he "regrets Governor Dewey's decision not to succeed himself."

Senator Wicks predicted that Lt. Gov. Hanley will receive the Republican nomination for governor without difficulty. "He's definitely assured of the nomination. Nobody can stop him, and so far as I know, nobody wants to," he said.

Prediction Borne Out

The prediction was borne out later Saturday, as a flood of endorsements for Hanley came from other Republican leaders. Among those who publicly announced themselves for Hanley were J. Russell Sprague of Nassau county, a G.O.P. national committeeman; Livingston Platt of Westchester and W. Kingsland Macy of Suffolk.

Sander's Bid Waits

Concord, N. H., June 19 (AP)—The New Hampshire Board of Registration in Medicine will not act for at least another week on Dr. Hermann N. Sander's application for restoration of his license to practice. The 42-year-old Canadian physician's license was revoked April 15 a few weeks after his acquittal of a charge of murder in the death of Mrs. Abbie Borroto, 59, a cancer patient. The board said, in revoking the license that it would consider an application for reinstatement after two months had elapsed.

Brother Paul Dies

Fort Monroe, Va., June 19 (AP)—The Catholic educator who guided the early career of baseball's Babe Ruth died yesterday at the age of 85. The Rev. Brother Paul, C.F.X., was the oldest member in point of service of the Xaverian Order, which he had served as superior general for nine years—the first American to gain the distinction. Brother Paul was superintendent of St. Mary's Industrial School in Baltimore for 18 years. Ruth was a student there during part of that period.

Will Approve Budget

A special meeting of the board of education will be held Thursday at 7 p. m. for the purpose of approving the budget for the school year 1950-51. The budget was presented at a public hearing last Thursday and no opposition was expressed. The tax rate will be the same as for the current year.

Dewey Relaxes With Sons Before Conference

Decision Due Soon On Amerasia Case

Justice Department Action Follows New Charges by G.O.P. Senator

Washington, June 19 (AP)—Attorney General McGrath said today the Justice Department will decide soon whether to make public a full report on the 1945 Amerasia case as recommended by a federal grand jury.

McGrath's comment to a reporter came after a week-end bustling with new developments involving the charges of Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that the State Department harbors Communists and Communist sympathizers.

A key part of those charges, McCarthy has said, concerns the five-year-old episode in which six persons were arrested after the F.B.I. had found hundreds of secret government documents in the offices of the now-defunct magazine Amerasia.

Lists New Developments

These were the developments: Three more Republicans joined those party members who have criticized McCarthy's methods in attacking the State Department. The three—Governors Earl Warren of California and James H. Duff of Pennsylvania, and Senator Bridges of New Hampshire—also had some criticism of the way Democrats have handled the Communist-in-government issue.

2. An official transcript of testimony taken by the Senate committee investigating McCarthy's charges showed that Amerasia defendant Emmanuel S. Larsen spoke of former Navy Lieut. Andrew Roth as a "real Communist" and "the principal conspirator" in the case.

Both men were among the six persons arrested in the case; Larsen and Amerasia Editor Philip Jaffe were fined; Roth and the other three never were brought to trial.

3. McCarthy demanded that the Senate inquiry group open its doors to the public when it takes testimony Thursday from State Department Consul Official John S. Service—another of the six accused in the Amerasia episode five years ago. The committee plans to hear Service, as it has other Amerasia witnesses, behind closed doors.

4. The State Department accused McCarthy of "deliberate distortion of the public record" in saying that Dean Acheson—now secretary of state—has helped create a Red Poland by approving a $90,000,000 loan to that country in 1946.

5. Officials disclosed that Cardinal Spellman had sought the meeting he had Friday with Deputy Undersecretary of State John P. Feerley—possibly to discuss U. S. representation at the Vatican. Feerley denied speculation that he had initiated the meeting so he could ask the cardinal to "call off" McCarthy.

Two Criticize Senator

Governors Warren and Duff expressed their criticism of McCarthy's methods in separate interviews. Warren said he thought McCarthy's "random, blanket charges without specific data to back them up" All three G.O.P. governors aired their views at meetings with reporters at the annual Governors Conference, swinging into business sessions here today.

Dewey, who announced last week that he won't run again for governor of New York, seemed more impressed than the other Republican governors with the fact that McCarthy—despite his methods—may have taken hold of a man-sized issue for the November congressional elections.

Dewey's friends said the New York governor has had no political love for McCarthy since the latter worked for former Gov. Horald E. Stassen of Minnesota in the critical Oregon primary in 1948. Dewey beat Stassen in that primary and went on to win the G.O.P. presidential nomination.

Despite this, Dewey wouldn't take the opportunity to join Duff and Warren in public criticism of McCarthy's methods.

The New York Governor was said to feel that the problem of rooting out subversives out of government is so critical that only a blunt axe method might be successful. He was reported to feel that if McCarthy hadn't made startling charges, some persons of doubtful loyalty might never have faced a public challenge.

House Committee Reverses Decision On Cigarette Tax

Vote on Boost in Levies for Corporations as 'Buffer' Will Be Taken

Washington, June 19 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee threw out of its new tax bill today a proposal—once approved—to cut the Federal tax on "economy brands" of cigarettes.

The action cleared the way for a vote next on whether to boost corporation taxes about $500,000,000 a year.

Some members contended a rise in corporation taxes would put a "veto proof" tag on their bill cutting wartime excise taxes by $1,100,000,000.

If the tax bill is passed, and a veto avoided, excise imposts will be cut on fur, jewelry, luggage, movies and scores of other items.

After a secret huddle of Democratic tax law writers last week administration leaders appeared confident the committee will approve the corporate tax increase.

Balance Is Delicate

However, the balance is delicate. The 10 committee Republicans are expected to oppose any tax hikes. Some administrationists feared the 13 Democrats may fall out over some minor issues, such as the taxation of cigarettes.

If 10 Republicans and three Democrats opposed it, the corporate boost proposal would fail.

President Truman has promised to veto any excise tax slash that fails to make up the revenue loss by higher taxes in other directions.

Thus far the committee, by looseplug plugging and various other tax law changes, has been able to find only about $500,000,000 to balance off the billion-dollar deficit.

Republican Governors Split On McCarthy; Dewey 'Mixed'

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., June 19 (AP)—Top flight Republican governors appeared divided today over the affect on their party's political fortunes of what some of them called "McCarthyism."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York told reporters he has a "mixed" reaction to broadside charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that the State Department is harboring Communists. He didn't elaborate publicly.

Gov. Earl Warren of California, running for a third term, lined himself up solidly against what he called the "blanket accusations" made by the Wisconsin Senator.

Warren said he thinks McCarthy speaks only for himself—and not the Republican Party—in making charges for which the California governor said not enough supporting evidence had been produced.

Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania, running for the Senate, used almost the same words in condemning what he labelled McCarthy's "random, blanket charges without specific data to back them up."

Has Backing Of Dewey on Nomination

Promises to Carry Out Governor's 'Liberal' Policies, if He Wins Election

No Opposition Seen

Wicks Is Mentioned Prominently for Place as Running Mate

Albany, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor and promised to carry out returning Governor Dewey's "liberal" policies if nominated and elected.

The 74-year-old preacher-turned-politician said he would wage an intensive and aggressive campaign for the governorship.

He forewent a "hard fight" but said he believed "we (the Republicans) can win."

Hanley's official declaration was a formality only, as he had made known last Saturday that he would throw his hat into the ring. He held up his official statement until two days after Dewey announced his decision to retire.

Enough Support Pledged

Hanley's announcement came as high party sources said he already had enough pledged support to clinch the nomination.

Top-level G.O.P. sources said they expected no opposition to Hanley at the state convention Sept. 5-6 at Saratoga Springs.

Asked whether he had any preference for a running mate in the lieutenant-governor slot, Hanley replied that he had not considered the question, and had "no ideas whatever."

Hanley celebrated his 74th birthday on Memorial Day, personally distributed his prepared statement to reporters in his capital office.

Tireless Campaigner

Long a tireless campaigner, he seemed completely rested from a recent speaking tour, in which he made 41 addresses in 81 days. He wound up the tour last week.

Asked if Governor Dewey would campaign for him, Hanley said "Mr. Dewey will support enthusiastically whoever is the nominee" selected at the state convention.

Dewey said last night at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where he is attending the annual governors' convention that he supports Hanley's prospective nomination.

Expect No Opposition

Top-level Republicans said they expected no opposition to Hanley at the G.O.P. state convention at Saratoga Springs, Sept. 5-6.

Meanwhile, most of the political engineers turned their attention toward what is expected to be a hot fight for the lieutenant governor nomination.

Figuring most prominently in early speculation were Senate Majority Leader Arthur J. Wicks of Kingston and Oswald D. Heck of Schoharie, Speaker of the State Assembly for an unprecedented 14 years.

Others considered as potential nominees include:

State Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein, Brooklyn; Senator Walter J. Mahoney, Buffalo; Thomas J. Curran, Dewey's secretary of state and New York county G.O.P. chairman, and former Mayor Frank J. Costello, Syracuse.

Costello formally announced his candidacy Saturday night. He is the only one to take that action.

Heck and Wicks, who had been considered gubernatorial possibilities, quickly pledged their support to Hanley, after Dewey announced his retirement.

Wicks was among those who said Hanley had been pledged support by county leaders controlling enough convention delegates to assure Hanley of the nomination.

"He's definitely assured of the nomination," said Wicks. "Nobody can stop him and, so far as I know, nobody wants to."

Leaders for Hanley

Leaders of the state's three strongest Republican counties are on the Hanley bandwagon. They are J. Russell Sprague of Nassau, Livingston Platt of Westchester, and W. Kingsland Macy of Suffolk.

So is John A. Crews of Brooklyn, where Kings county delegates will be the largest at the state convention.

Probe Still Open On Accord Crash

Investigation of a three-car vehicle accident at Accord on June 7 in which two Puerto Rican farm laborers were killed is still officially "open," but there appeared little likelihood today that any criminal negligence charges will be pressed.

Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson said today "no final decision" has been rendered as to whether criminal negligence was involved. The coroner has already ruled that the deaths of Jacinto Alejandro and Ismael Colon were the result of the accident.

That the case might be placed before the grand jury is still possible, but very "improbable," Coroner Chipp said.

No arrests have been made in the case, it has been reported by Sgt. Arthur A. Reddy, District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn.

Six of the eight persons injured in the accident have been discharged from local hospitals. Those who remain hospitalized are Antonio Rodriguez and Modesto Diaz, both reported as "improving" at Kingston Hospital. The others including Michael J. Mahoney of Stone Ridge and five Puerto Ricans, have been discharged.

The accident occurred on Route 209 at the Howard Anderson garage at Accord on June 7 as Mahoney was driving a 1947 Puerto Rican laborer back to Camp Hayden at Kerhonkson. A coupe and a trailer truck were also involved in the mishap.

The bodies of Alejandro and Colon were shipped back to Puerto Rico for burial on June 12.

COUNTRY SCHOOL TEACHER
When I was just a country lad
The teacher handed every grade
One room was all we ever had
A school that many hands made.

The teacher lived with country folk
From Labor Day till early June
We liked the way she smiled and spoke
Unlike the natives, she was rough and keen.

I well recall her desk
Bedecked with books and souvenirs
A stove both huge and picturesque
That kept us warm through childhood years.

On party nights the teacher came
To meet the parents gathered there
She seemed to know them all by name
A gift I thought was very rare.

The country school is all but gone
And steam-heated buildings now are seen
Today we view another dawn
And teachers know what comforts mean.

Country School Teacher
When I was just a country lad
The teacher handed every grade
One room was all we ever had
A school that many hands made.

The teacher lived with country folk
From Labor Day till early June
We liked the way she smiled and spoke
Unlike the natives, she was rough and keen.

I well recall her desk
Bedecked with books and souvenirs
A stove both huge and picturesque
That kept us warm through childhood years.

On party nights the teacher came
To meet the parents gathered there
She seemed to know them all by name
A gift I thought was very rare.

Bard's Graduates Are Told Of 'Voice' Effect Upon Russia

Annandale-on-Hudson, June 19.—Edward W. Barrett, Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs, said today that the Voice of America programs are reaching a "substantial core of listeners in the Soviet Union" on a scale large enough "to keep the Soviet rulers acutely uncomfortable."

Barrett's address was given at the 90th annual commencement exercises of Bard College, which gave 60 diplomas to graduates and honorary degrees to 10 leaders in science, letters, business and public affairs.

Howard Everard Koch, Jr., of Beverly Hills, Calif., grandson of Frederick Koch, of Schuylers Court, Kingston, was awarded a John Bard scholarship for 1950-51 in social studies, while James Carol Summers, of Woodstock was awarded a similar scholarship in the field of art, music, drama and dance.

Describing the effects of what he called the "campaign of truth" aimed at the Iron Curtain, Barrett told the audience at the ninetieth commencement of Bard College that he estimates the potential listening audience of the programs at 300,000,000 people.

"Probably the best measure of the impact of the Voice is the case of letters it seems to have instilled in the men in the Kremlin," he said.

In devoting several hundred transmitters to a twenty-four hour jamming operation, "the Soviet government is spending more money to keep our broadcasts out than we are spending on our entire world-wide Voice operation," Barrett asserted.

Hopes to Keep 'Bear' Busy

"We'll not let them shut out the truth as long as we can help it," he said. "The more we can keep the Russian bear busy scratching his own fleas, the less likely he is to molest the rest of the world."

As a result of the recent "Franklin" Russian attempts to jam the programs, Barrett announced that Voice of America programs in the Czech and Slovak languages will be doubled.

He asserted that the news of the outside world beamed to the Russian audience is being passed

Vogt Gets Bard Program in Sweden

William L. Vogt, of Washington, former chief of the conservation section, Pan American Union and author of the best-selling book of 1949, Road to Survival, is now in Europe on a Guggenheim fellowship.

Vogt, an alumnus of St. Stephen's College (now Bard), Annandale-on-Hudson, was in interior Sweden recently when he tuned in his radio. "The words he heard were, 'This program originates on the campus of Bard College,'" he said.

The announcement was by the Voice of America. The broadcast was that of the annual international student conference at Bard.

"I was never so homesick in my life," Vogt said.

Vogt was the speaker at the 89th commencement exercises at Bard in 1949.

on "through the grapevine to be found in any land smothered by oppression."

"This is our opportunity to keep alive, even in Russia, the possibility of ultimate cooperation between our people and a free Russian people," he said. "Meanwhile, the more we reach the Russian people with honest news, the more we force the Russian dictators to beware of an explosion within if they step too far in their adventures abroad."

Lauds Bipartisan Work

He said it was heartening, however, that there are men in Washington of both parties whose good work in the field of foreign affairs is repairing "the damage done by selfish irresponsibilities."

Barrett received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, together with four other men. They are Byron Price, Assistant Secretary General of the United Nations; Elliott V. Bell, chairman of the executive committee of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company; Ward Melville, industrialist and former Bard College trustee chairman, and Lennert Nylander, Swedish Consul General in New York.

The degree of Doctor of Humane Letters was awarded to Gardner Cowles, newspaper and magazine publisher, and to Mary Lasker, philanthropist. The Doctor of Letters degree went to William Carlos Williams, poet, and the degree of Doctor of Science to Dr. John J. Bittner, director of cancer research, University of Minnesota Medical School. Dr. Bittner is an alumnus of Bard College, class of 1925.

Girl Wounds Self

Detroit, June 19 (AP)—Fourteen-year-old Hilda Jackson wounded herself critically with a .22 caliber rifle yesterday after her mother insisted that she baby-sit instead of going out on her first date. Mrs. Mary Lee Jackson told police she heard the shot in Hilda's bedroom soon after telling her daughter to stay home with a four-month-old cousin instead of going to a movie with a boy friend. The girl's father said Hilda "never had a date in her life."

READY FOR GABRIEL—Spry and spirited at 76, Martin J. Dziubakowski is busy these days waxing and polishing his casket on the front porch of his Cleveland, O., home. If he doesn't whistle as he works, it's more on account of his heart than any lack of cheerfulness. Dziubakowski came to Cleveland from Austria in 1901. About 36 years ago he found a fine piece of oak. "Ah, that will be for my casket," he declared. And so the collection of oak pieces began. He completed the casket long ago and now gives it fatherly care with frequent polishing.

G. CARPENTER YES MANAGER
My job is to make loans to local people. I like to say YES and do say YES to 4 out of 5 who come to me for a loan. Yet I can't help feeling that my most important job is getting people out of debt—selling fresh starts.

Take the young couple who came to see me only last week. The husband was making good money. Yet they couldn't seem to make ends meet. They wanted a loan of $50 until payday.

With their permission, I went over their income and expenses on a worksheet* my company has just published. In 10 minutes, we'd spotted the trouble. Their monthly installment payments were just too high. After meeting them, they didn't have enough money to handle their regular monthly expenses. I lent them the cash to pay these accounts in full. Now they're repaying Personal—in monthly amounts that fit their income. They are happy with their fresh start.

Now I don't claim a loan is always the answer to a money problem. When it is, I say "yes" promptly. You also get the benefit of my years of experience with family budgets. If you can use either money or this free counsel, don't hesitate to see me. Come in to the Personal Finance Co.—or phone, today.

*You can get this worksheet, "X-Ray Booklet" without cost or obligation. Simply come in, or send a postcard.

HOW MILD CAN A CIGARETTE BE? MORE PEOPLE SMOKE CAMELS THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

"Million Dollar Voice" Sings Camels' Praises

EZIO PINZA, famous for his starring role in the smash-hit South Pacific, says: "Mildness is all-important to me as a singer. I smoke the cigarette that agrees with my throat... Camel!"

Noted throat specialists report on 30-DAY TEST of Camel smokers:

Not One Single Case of Throat Irritation Due to Smoking CAMELS

Hundreds of men and women were in this coast-to-coast test. They smoked Camels—and only Camels—for 30 consecutive days. Each week, noted throat specialists examined the throat of every smoker in the test—2,470 examinations in all—with the above findings!

Make Your Own Thirty-Day Camel Mildness Test...
In your "T-Zone!"

That's T for Throat, T for Taste. See how mild a cigarette can be!

Smokers are Testing Cigarettes More Critically than Ever Before—Millions Prove Camel Mildness in their own "T-Zones"
(T for Throat...T for Taste)

Yes, more and more smokers are finding there is one sensible way to test a cigarette... smoke that cigarette pack after pack, day after day—for 30 days! That's just the test that Camel asks you to make for yourself!

Top "Pop" Singer says Camel's "Tops" with her

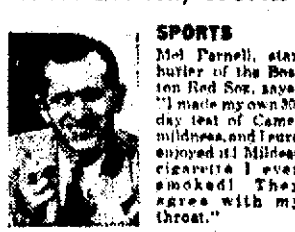

FRAN WARREN—radio and recording star, recently chosen by the American Academy of Entertainment as "Queen of Song," "My voice means my living," Fran tells you, "My own test won me to Camels. They agree with my throat—Camels are fun to smoke!"

What can you, the smoker, really learn from the trick tests and short cuts you hear about over and over again? From one puff of this cigarette... a sniff of that cigarette... an inhale of one brand... an exhale of another?

No, you don't have to rely on tricks! You have your own "T-Zone" (your Throat and your Taste)—the best possible proving ground for a cigarette. And for the right answer—the sensible answer—smoke Camels, and only Camels, in your "T-Zone" for 30 days. Once you've tested Camel's choice tobaccos as a steady smoke—pack after pack—you'll discover how mild and good-tasting a cigarette can be!

CASE AGAINST BIG CORPORATIONS

The Justice Department's anti-trust division is said to be gunning now for the United States Steel Corporation. It is predicted the government will seek the company's break-up into smaller units.

If this action comes off as forecast, it won't be based on claims of monopoly. U. S. Steel accounts for slightly less than one-third of total U. S. steel output. Monopoly charges would have made much more sense years ago when the company did 60 per cent of the industry's business.

Today the government has a new idea: that the old, crude ways of monopolizing trade have been supplanted by smoother, more subtle devices. Anti-trust officials contend that nowadays a leading company or a Big Three can restrain competition just as surely as any monopoly.

The same reasoning has been applied to the pending A. and P. case. The A. and P. does less than seven per cent of the total business in its field. Yet the government wants to split it into seven parts on the ground it is limiting trade.

Having already won a criminal suit against A. and P., the Justice Department is confident it will win the split-up suit. And presumably its hopes will be high if it opens fire on U. S. Steel.

But should it fall in these attacks, there's some indication it may urge that the anti-trust laws be made stronger.

A call for new legislation undoubtedly would be followed by intense congressional scrutiny of the whole issue. Yet why should an inquiry wait until such a moment? There's need for it now.

The Justice Department is admittedly practicing a new theory; we have only its own word that this notion fits the language and aims of existing laws. Its attacks on big business as actually or potentially "bad" for competition may really be unwarranted under present statute.

An impartial study by a group of high-ranking lawyers and economists would be a help in getting the answer to the legality of this approach, long before the Supreme Court would have any chance to pass on it.

If the theory does go beyond the law, then new legislation would indeed be necessary to support the government's assault on big business. And then it would be the turn of Congress to consider the wisdom of more powerful anti-trust weapons.

Mass production is acknowledged as a great factor in our high living standards. Mass production and large producing units have tended to go hand in hand. But the question is: can the benefits of mass output be gained without getting into super-companies like U. S. Steel, General Motors, General Electric?

This is the real issue. The public has a tremendous stake in it. The prices of most everything it buys will be affected by the decision where to break up nation's mammoth industrial firms.

It's much too big a matter for a handful of Justice Department lawyers to try to decide amongst themselves. The country's best minds ought to begin tackling it without delay.

WILL TO WIN

Courage is a lesson wherever you find it. Most recently it was seen in Ardmore, Pa., where little Ben Hogan astonished the world by his remarkable golfing comeback.

In 1928 Hogan was at the peak of his game and seemed set to stay on top a long time. Then came the famous automobile accident in which he was seriously injured. The fear was that Hogan never again would play a championship round of golf.

But Ben just wasn't the quitting kind. By the first of this year he was back in competition with the nation's best golfers. He came within an eyelash of capturing a big winter tourney in California. Then came the big test—the U. S. Open.

Still short on the strength he once had, but long on nerve and calmer than ever, Hogan fought his way into a triple tie and a playoff. With the chips down, he put on

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

FREEDOM FOR ADVERTISING

It used to be that when a citizen was sufficiently angered by the course of events or the conduct of officials, he wrote a letter to the editor. Nowadays, some individuals, organizations, and corporations, when they have something that they want to tell their fellow-citizens, buy space in newspapers and advertise their ideas. They do not do this secretly; they state who is responsible for the advertisement and who pays for it.

During the past year, the A.P. grocery stores have battled what they call the anti-trust lawyers of the Department of Justice, telling their side of the story so competently that public opinion generally sides with the A.P. This must be very annoying to the Department of Justice, which has not made out a good case, although they might still do it in the courts.

Now, along comes the Buchanan Committee and sends a questionnaire to 166 carefully selected firms, asking:

"D. Expenditures for advertising services. As to each newspaper or other periodical advertisement (dealing with public issues which might be the subject of federal legislative action) paid for or whose insertion was arranged by your organization, please supply details in tabulated form under the headings:

Date
Cost of insertion
Where published
Forwarded copies of such advertisements where available."

The business of the Buchanan Committee is to investigate lobbying, which is a constitutional device to influence actions of Congress. What the Buchanan Committee should try to discover, under the resolution establishing it, is whether existing laws are adequate or inadequate to keep lobbying clean. Congress desires that those who professionally lobby should be known as engaging in this activity.

However, there is very little that is dramatic, exciting or newsworthy in such an investigation. So, the counsel and investigators of this committee have set out to do something more; they are trying to scare the contributors to right-wing organizations, the Republican party and the Dixiecrats in the hope that the support for these organizations will disappear.

As the Democrats are suffering from the popular revulsion to their left-wing nexus, it is only natural that they should try to hit back. However, this questionnaire, sent only to a select number of companies and hitting at institutional advertising, as it is called, is something that involves the fundamental principle of freedom of speech and of the press and should be opposed strictly on that basis. One of the largest users of institutional advertising is International Latex to which the questionnaire has not been sent. Why?

The facts of newspaper advertising are available. The advertisements have been published. It would not be difficult to get hold of the copy and the dates of publication. Newspaper rates are on file. Anyone with an adding machine—or, if he has the intelligence, a lead pencil—can compute what these advertisements cost.

Most of them have to do with certain general theories of American life, usually held by Americans from 1776 to 1933, but now somewhat confused in the public mind. Wendell Wilkie made quite a reputation for himself by publishing a speech and of the press and should be opposed strictly on that basis. One of the largest users of institutional advertising is International Latex to which the questionnaire has not been sent. Why?

My friend, Edward F. Hutton, every once in a while, loses his temper, writes an advertisement and inserts it in a lot of newspapers to stir the wrath of the people against the opponents of private enterprise.

The other day, one of the publishers of this column, Henry Dooley of the Omaha World-Herald, sent me some extraordinarily well-worded advertisements issued by the Nebraska Small Business Men's Association on economy in government. Is that a crime?

Billy Rose once hired space in a newspaper to tell the world what a "great little guy he is"—and I agree with his opinion of himself—and the advertisement was so good that he became a vestment. Instead of paying for the ads, he gets paid for them. Will the Buchanan Committee discover something sinister in that?

Why is it that when Congress and the country have such serious business to do, a few lawyers and investigators get a congressman to waste time and money on things like this? (Copyright, 1935, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

BRAIN STROKE—APOPLEXY

Because so many middle-aged and elderly men and women die of heart stroke (coronary thrombosis), we do not read or hear so much about brain stroke (apoplexy), which, like heart disease, may cause death on first attack, or may consist of several strokes. The first or following strokes may cause paralysis of limbs or other parts of the body. Both brain and heart strokes are caused in the great majority of cases by high blood pressure and the breaking down or clogging of a blood vessel supplying the part.

In "The American Heart Journal," Drs. S. P. Hicks and B. K. Black report their study of the role of the failure of heart and blood vessels to do their work properly, thus causing apoplexy. There were 155 cases of apoplexy confirmed by examination after death in 99 men and 56 women.

It was found that high blood pressure (hypertension) was present in nearly 90 per cent of the patients. Now having high blood pressure does not mean that you are bound to have a brain stroke or a heart stroke. Thousands of men and women with high blood pressure live and enjoy good health year in and year out. In the care of the family physician, they perhaps never think of their high pressure, nor do they nor their physician discuss it. From time to time the physician examines the blood pressure, and aside from some advice as to diet and rest and occasionally a quieting drug, no treatment is necessary to prevent a brain or heart stroke.

In the study of the 155 cases of apoplexy, Drs. Hicks and Black report that a spasm, probably due to some emotional disturbance, appeared to be an important factor in most cases, while the high blood pressure, aside from spasm, was responsible for just a few of the deaths.

The lesson is plain for those with high blood pressure. By keeping the mind at rest, by help of religion or philosophy of life, a brain stroke may be prevented. In some cases, of course, the quieting drug prescribed by the family physician may be necessary.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It looks as if small business was getting the same old run-around from the army-navy, and that big business was getting the juicy plus, some of them illegally.

During the war, the brass hats contended that the urgency of placing orders forced them to concentrate on big companies. Result was that six corporations handled 50 per cent of all war contracts.

Now, however, with plenty of time and no excuse for favoritism, the army has recently shown complete unvarnished favoritism toward Westinghouse Electric Company in the buying of water coolers.

Though Secretary Johnson made some high-sounding speeches when he took office, announcing that he would give a break to small business, his office did just the opposite in the water-cooler deal. Here are the unfortunate facts in the case:

When the Chicago army quartermaster's office requested bids on $100,000 worth of water coolers, it received sixteen. One Westinghouse bid did not come up to specifications, which under procurement regulations should have barred Westinghouse from that part of the contract.

This was protested by the Sunco Refrigration Company of Glen Riddle, Pa. However, when Sunco protested, the army brazenly turned around and permitted Westinghouse to change its specifications. This change was made even though the bids already had been closed.

Army Is Overruled
Orville Morrison, president of Sunco, took his case up to the office of Secretary Johnson, but got nowhere. Secretary Johnson's speeches about a fair deal to small business apparently meant nothing.

Finally, however, Congressman Manny Celler of New York, in charge of the House monopoly inquiry, got busy, placed the matter before the general accounting office. There, forthright Lindsay Warren, watchdog of the treasury, promptly declared the army's acceptance of the Westinghouse bid illegal.

It took great patience and a lot of work to unravel all this red tape, however, which is one reason

Congressman Buchanan of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House Lobbying Committee, has sent a questionnaire to big corporations asking the cost of their offices in Washington.

What Buchanan has in mind is that big companies spend millions maintaining not only Washington offices, but hotel apartments where they entertain army officers with a view to getting contracts. Small companies such as Sunco can't afford this "entertainment" expense.

Yet when Congressman Buchanan, Democrat, sent out his questionnaire it brought immediate protests from Congressmen Brown of Ohio, O'Hara of Minnesota, and Halleck of Indiana—the Republicans on his committee.

House-Fiddle Ching
Cy Ching, who, at six feet four inches, towers above most of his fellowmen and has hands like hams, has the thankless job of trying to settle Uncle Sam's strikes.

At the age of 72 he left the U. S. Rubber Company to try to help his government with its labor relations and though he gets kicked around by both sides, has done an amazingly good job. If Ching wanted to, he could write a fascinating book about stroking John D. Lewis's name, coaxing U. S. Steel and trying to get milk for Washington babies. But probably he will never write the book.

The other day, however, he was telling a close circle of friends about trying to settle the coal strike, and of going up the back stairs of New York hotels trying to avoid newsmen during his talks with John L. Lewis.

"Imagine," said Mrs. Ching, as she looked up at her 250-pound husband, "trying to hide a bass fiddle!"

Backstage Apology
Real facts seldom catch up with the headlines, especially when so much is done behind closed doors. However, a former C.S.S. agent, Archibald Van Beuren of New York, contritely apologized to the Senate committee investigating the McCarthy charges last week.

This fact was little known. Much better known were the earlier headlines, spread by Senator McCarthy when he read a sensational telegram from Van Beuren on the Senate floor.

In the telegram Van Beuren charged that Senate investigators probing America were not interested in getting the true facts, and that when they met with him, they chiefly tried to discredit McCarthy's witnesses.

Later, however, the author of this telegram came to Washington, appeared before the committee and completely revamped his story. He admitted that the telegram had been cooked up by McCarthy himself, along with Scripps-Howard newspaper reporter Frederick Wolfman who is chiefly behind the American probe, and by Robert Morris, the bitterly partisan Republican counsel for the Senate committee.

Van Beuren testified that Morris and Wolfman first proposed that he send McCarthy the telegram accusing Senate investigators of whitewash. Then McCarthy himself sent a telegram suggesting certain ideas, which Van Beuren then sent back as his own. Later McCarthy read to the Senate the telegram which he himself had inspired and accused the Senate committee of prejudice and whitewashing.

It was for his part in this plot to mislead the public that Van Beuren apologized.

Ignoring Senate Subpoenas
A somewhat similar attempt to mislead the public was made when McCarthy brought a former F.B.I. man, John Huber, to Washington to promise that he would give sensational evidence against Owen Lattimore. Then the F.B.I. agent suddenly blacked out, disappeared, and hasn't shown up since. The whole thing fizzled.

Real fact is that Huber had no real evidence. He knew this and, presumably, McCarthy knew it. Undoubtedly that was why McCarthy flew to Washington on the same plane with him, virtually held his hand to make sure he would testify. However, after McCarthy deposited Huber at the Carlton Hotel and went back to his office, the unwilling witness ducked.

Some newspapers played up the story as if the notorious forced surrendering Lattimore had spun a roundabout tale of lies which was not true. Actually he was and still is in contempt of the Senate for ignoring a subpoena. But for some strange reason the Senate committee continues to let its authority be flouted.

President's Veto Is Example of Manner in Which Government Is Run These Days

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 19—President Truman's veto of the so-called "basing point" bill is a typical example of how government is run nowadays.

For more than a year now, a bill which was passed by both the House and the Senate has been the subject of a prolonged attack by a small group who have held up action on the Conference Committee report. Finally, two weeks ago, it went to the White House.

The measure itself had the endorsement of the attorney general and the secretary of commerce and the two leading Democratic anti-trust legislators in the House and the Senate—Representative Celler of New York and Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming—both of them chairmen of important committees dealing with monopoly in business.

Not a word had come from the administration that it disliked the measure. Then, just as the bill would have become law in the absence of any action by the President, a veto message was sent. There are not enough votes to enact the bill over the veto. It is a safe assumption that the President never wrote the veto message, and it may be doubted whether he understands the complex economic controversy that has developed about the legislation. Somehow a veto message was written for him backed by pressure groups and advisers whose identity isn't revealed to the public. The result is that a confusing Supreme Court decision, seeking to correct ambiguities, is now the law of the land. It upset the distribution practices of the past by concurring with a Federal Trade Commission attack on methods of pricing which include the freight costs. The effect has been to encourage the total cost of Congress to clarify this point has failed because a politically minded president accepts the recommendations of a reactionary clique.

The proponents of the veto are claiming that monopoly has been defeated. Quite the reverse is the truth. Local monopolies have been encouraged and the total price to the consumer will rise. The President's veto message represents a milestone in the economic life of America. It fixes the theory of the protective tariff and the theory of monopoly price as a permanent part of the Democratic platform.

The larger companies cannot afford to pay the costs to build branch mills or plants, so they will leave the local areas to the local monopolies. Likewise, the latter will not give the consumer the benefit of nearness to a mill. They will set their prices as close to the freight barrier as they can. It's the vice of the old protective tariff over again.

Some of the Democrats are saying that perhaps the President's message will put a restraining hand on the Federal Trade Commission and that the latter will not prosecute those firms which attempt to compete by absorbing a part of the freight rate. This merely emphasizes the trend in the administration, which is to make more and more power and decide each case as it suits the politics of the region. The lawyers who lobby before government agencies will have more and more cases. The business men of America will not know from one day to another what they can or cannot do about absorbing freight rates.

All this will add to the inflationary spiral and make remote an American distribution system at lower prices—the most necessary factor if the purchasing power of the dollar is to be increased and real wages are to be saved. It's certainly an odd thing to do when the administration is lining up on the reactionary side of American economic policy—to protect monopoly and penalize the consumer. AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, June 18—Senator Margaret Chase Smith, of Maine, a nominal Republican, took advantage of the special privilege of her sex in her recent selfish, harmful criticism of the party which elected her. She and the six other Republicans who said that she had spoken for them do not understand what a Republican should be. Like Clare Luce, another nominal Republican who also imposes on her feminine prerogatives, Mrs. Smith willfully tract unduly party just to attract notoriety and personal attention to herself. I refer to Mrs. Luce's fawning praise of a prominent Democrat, Eleanor Roosevelt, on an artificial public occasion arranged for the benefit of Mrs. Roosevelt and her own party.

I am about 56 years old and I have seen in my time a steady shrinking of the personal freedom of American citizens and a drastic impairment of the integrity of the states by the Democratic party. In my time also we have butted into two terrible wars in Europe, the first of which was absolutely none of our business. As to the validity of our reasons, as a nation, for inviting the attack which got us involved in the second world war, historians and reporters, admirals and statesmen only now are beginning to establish concealed facts with reference to Japan, China and communism in the Orient. When Japan struck the first blow, which Winston Churchill if not President Roosevelt had been eagerly awaiting, Churchill exulted over an incident which he had "worked and prayed" for. Our disaster must be Britain's deliverance. What a pal!

The test of the foreign policy of a party in power is whether that policy preserves the nation without war. We had Democratic presidents in both of these wars. As late as November, 1916, the campaign slogan of Wilson's party was "He Kept Us Out of War." The people believed that he would continue as resolutely as before to keep us out of war which was only a little more noisy repetition of a long succession of European wars with a lineup always subject to change. Five months later, we were in. As late as 1940, President Roosevelt was assuring American parents "Again and again I assure you that I would not send their sons to fight in a 'foreign' war, a promise intended to mean that he would 'keep us out of war.' That promise was influential with parents and millions of young students and husbands and wives. It was a false promise.

Wendell Wilkie, the false Republican who later was to excuse the promise as mere "campaign oratory," was the Republican candidate of 1940, to be sure. But he was a Democrat in disguise. Frank Knox, who had been the Republican candidate for vice president in 1936, said in September, 1939, that "that fellow," meaning Wilkie, was a Democrat when he was told that a boom was forming in New York to nominate Wilkie at the top of the Republican ticket in 1940.

The record shows that the Republican party is a party of peace and the injection of the Spanish-American War of 1898 does not substantially discredit that record. It was the only American war that ever paid a profit and there were persuasive political and moral reasons for the United States to clean up an offensive (Continued on Page 5, Col. 2)

Questions - Answers

Q—Who first advanced the idea of world disarmament?
A—The primary object of the Hague Conference held at the instance of the czar of Russia in 1899 was to check the race in armaments. This was the first real gesture toward arms reduction by modern states.

Q—Where did the game Canasta originate?
A—It is a species of rummy. Nobody knows when it appeared in the world, or who thought it up, but it was first played over the border into Argentina and was taken upon by American travelers in Buenos Aires. Canasta means "basket" in Spanish.

Q—What percentage of stolen automobiles is recovered?
A—Reports from larger cities in the United States in 1949 showed that 83 per cent were recovered.

Q—Can the king of England abdicate the throne without the consent of Parliament?
A—No, he must have the consent of both Houses of Parliament. The Abdication Bill, ending the reign of Edward VIII, was passed by Parliament on December 11, 1936.

MODENA

Modena, June 17.—Regular business was transacted at the June meeting of the Plattburgh Town Board, Wednesday night at the Town Clerk's Office. Next regular meeting of the board is scheduled for Wednesday evening, July 11 at the Town Clerk's Office.

The final feature of the year's program of the Modena Home Bureau was the annual picnic held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Hasbrouck, Wednesday. It was hoped that fair weather would favor the ladies and that the picnic could be held on the spacious lawn of the Hasbrouck home. But, owing to rain, the party was held inside, and cards were played as a feature entertainment. A large crowd was in attendance.

Local members of the Plattburgh Grange, joined the group attending Roseville Grange Wednesday night in cooperation with visitation program.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bernard and family attended a birthday surprise party given George Lare at his home in Gardentown, Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Palliducci of the Ardona section visited Mr. and Mrs. Preston Palliducci Sunday night.

Mrs. Floyd Hartcourt has returned from the Kingston Hospital where she was a patient for several days.

William Doolittle was admitted to the Kingston Hospital Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Adams and sons, Pat and Billy, visited Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Edmunds and daughter Edith at Brynwick Sunday.

Mrs. Daisy Kortright of New Paltz spent a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Harold Dullos and family north of Modena village, before leaving for Lake Minnewaska, where she will be employed as assistant housekeeper during the summer season.

Miss Jean Wells, who arrived home Sunday from the State College at Fredonia for the summer vacation, is assisting in the confectionery store of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wager in Modena.

Mrs. William Decker was a visitor in Newburgh, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosen and Joan Hattner visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weber and daughter Marie at Hurley Sunday.

Attention is called to the Modena Merry Makers 4-H Club picnic to be held on Saturday, June 24, at Carolyn Coy's home.

Modena school will close Friday, June 23 for the summer vacation. Scholars completing their studies in the local school and who are eligible to enter the Wallkill Central School at the commencement of the fall term are Gertrude Smith, Patricia Pink, Ronald Wagner, Monte Smith and George Meyers.

Mr. and Mrs. Ransel Wager were in New Paltz Wednesday.

It has been reported that over 700 persons took advantage of the chest X-ray last Monday and Tuesday in the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall, sponsored by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Residence Becomes Sanitarium

The former Noone dwelling at 172 Pearl street, has been renovated and converted into a sanitarium by Mr. and Mrs. John J. Patton. Much of the exterior beauty of the home, in which tradition says General U. S. Grant was once entertained, has been retained, but the interior has been made into sanitarium quarters for 23 patients. A feature of the grounds is a large urn carved from a huge stone from the back yard, where at one time stone for the Brooklyn Bridge was quarried. The urn is now on display, filled with flowers, and public inspection of the house and grounds is invited by Mr. and Mrs. Patton. (Freeman Photo)

As Pegler Sees It

The physical damage was trivial.

Instead of fouling their own nest with petty and un-sincere criticism of the Republican party, Republican senators and groups of "senior" and "junior" or "young" Republicans should study the history of their own party and the history of the country.

They have a duty to their country to repudiate and strike down at every occasion the proposition that this nation is a "democracy" and the unassisted application that democracy is good.

They should attain themselves of the terrible difference, which is well revealed by the creeping encroachment on the liberties of the people under administrations of the Democratic party during 25 years out of the last 37.

Few would be able to make the distinction for themselves out of their own conscious experience. They are too young. Sets born in servitude rarely can.

When I was young, you could travel anywhere in the United States under any name you chose and work at any job you could find. Now all of us are registered under one or another of the death laws and catalogued even to the intimate details of our lives.

We are catalogued in filing cabinets to be social security and it is now proposed to register us all again under "socialized medicine." Not even in France a nation notorious for her passive bureaucracy 40 years ago were the people so card-indexed. Whose business is it whether you have a right, lower, respectable bridge with two teeth? Whose business how many latitudes there are in your house or whether you have had a job last year and for how many days? It was nobody's business in the old republic but it has been mine and mine the business of the Democratic party since 1936.

You may have a "desire" in the FBI I am morally certain that I have.

Why should a man cherish the right to go from St. Louis to Albany, change his name from Smith to Higgins and abandon the clerical line for a job on a truck? I will tell you why. Because that is his right. The very fact that we ask why is proof that we don't understand and therefore cherish the old freedoms sure, it is a sacred convention to the police. But to hell with their convenience. Let them hustle. That is what we pay them for. The more important truth is that it is convenient to the union bosses. It enables them to check on the new employee, to learn whether some dirty grafter in St. Louis ran the poor fellow out of town for refusing to kick back a part of his pay or buy cattle tickets to raise a $5,000 kitty to send the business agent and some trollop on a trip to Europe. The Republican party is pro-freedom and wherever is pro-freedom is pro-labor. But the Roosevelt-Pratt party narrowed freedom to the brutal discipline of the C.I.O. and the A. F. of L. and, in total, imposed on free Americans the curse of European "controls."

This is by no means even a summary of the beauty of Republican principles as compared with democracy. But it might stir inquiry among the minds of a people who have passively and stupidly abandoned so much without a struggle.

What is the importance of some clams, but not dishonest, acts of Senator McCarthy in rooting out traitors by comparison with the guilt of Roosevelt, Truman and the Democratic party in planting them in our capital and protecting them? What matters the convenience of some smirking fellow traveler who boldly invites suspicion by comparison with the enslavement of our millions under the union monopoly and terror? Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE.

A YIP-YIP FOR MOON PITCHERS

For the past eight months the Rosey have been sticking pretty close to home health and television set, and as I've reported in this space from time to time, Eleanor and I have been pleasantly overwhelmed by some of the shows we've seen on our one-foot screen. A couple of week-ends back, however, my musings drifted off the projector in the midwest movie theatre we built in our barn in Mt. Kisco several summers ago, and since then we've been catching up with some of the films we've missed. And from what we've seen to date it's as plain as the muck on Croucho Marx's face that a good film is still a country mile ahead of anything TV has to offer.

Let's see if I can't make my point with four flickering form-stanzas.

"Annie (Get Your Gun)." If video has put on a musical to compare with this Technicolor translation of the Rodgers-Hart musical stage hit, I haven't seen it. What's more, I'm willing to bet a candied apple that it'll be several years and inventions before it does.

Speaking generally of chorus girls—and that's what I'm generally speaking of—the five-inch glamour-puss on television is a pretty end, in an academic way, interesting, but she'll never hold candle or come-on to the larger-and-buxom-than-life cuties on the long-size movie screen.

"The Asphalt Jungle." There are plenty of thrillers and shoot-'em-ups on the cathode circuit these nights, but for my pesos and applause they're high-school productions alongside the panel-by-panel slickness of this new film directed by John Huston. And this isn't meant as a thumb in the eye to the lads who produce for TV, until such time as their sponsors can afford the luxury of months of preparation and weeks of rehearsals. I don't see how they can begin to compete with top Hollywood product.

"Father of the Bride." I don't know whether you've seen this one yet, but it's a celluloid cinch that TV hasn't as yet come up with a comparable 90 minutes in either the laugh or tear departments. The Ford dramatic hour is plenty good, but no performance on it has ever reached out and grabbed me by the heart and tummy bone as Spencer Tracy did in his portrayal of Elizabeth Taylor's distracted pop. I don't know how this feature is doing at the box office, but if I owned the movie studio that produced it and didn't clean up, I'd nail the front door shut.

"The No. Nine Hear." This strange and provocative chunk of film was produced by Dore Schary who less than two years ago took over the weekly M-G-M lot and got the looks out of it. Less. Production-wise, "Voice" is as unpretentious as an Italian movie—I understand it was brought in for about $400,000, which is pennant-brittle money in Hollywood. Yet it has been hooked into the Radio City Music Hall—the first quickie ever to crash its platinum precincts—and the smart talk is that it will wind up with plenty of cash and comment.

"Voice" delineates, in terms of the family tree, what would happen if God were to go on the radio and present His case for decency and kindness in the world. As a one-shot on video, I doubt if this theme, played by a cast of unknowns, would find either sponsor or audience, but with the Metro boogie-bug behind it it figures to reach at least a hundred million people around the world and do a lot of them plenty of good....

Does this yip-yip for moon pitchers mean that I'm planning to give my TV set to the spiders? Not on your selector switch. But as long as I've got a couple of loose quarters in my pocket, I do intend to keep up with the more eye-worthy films at least until such a time as TV can match the better stuff at my neighborhood theatre.

Of course, on the nights when the Bijou is playing one of those ho-hummers, it will have to get along without my four horses. If I must look at fat-to-pidgin entertainment, I'd rather do it for free in my parlor with my shoes off. (Copyright, 1950, By Billy Rose.) (Distributed by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

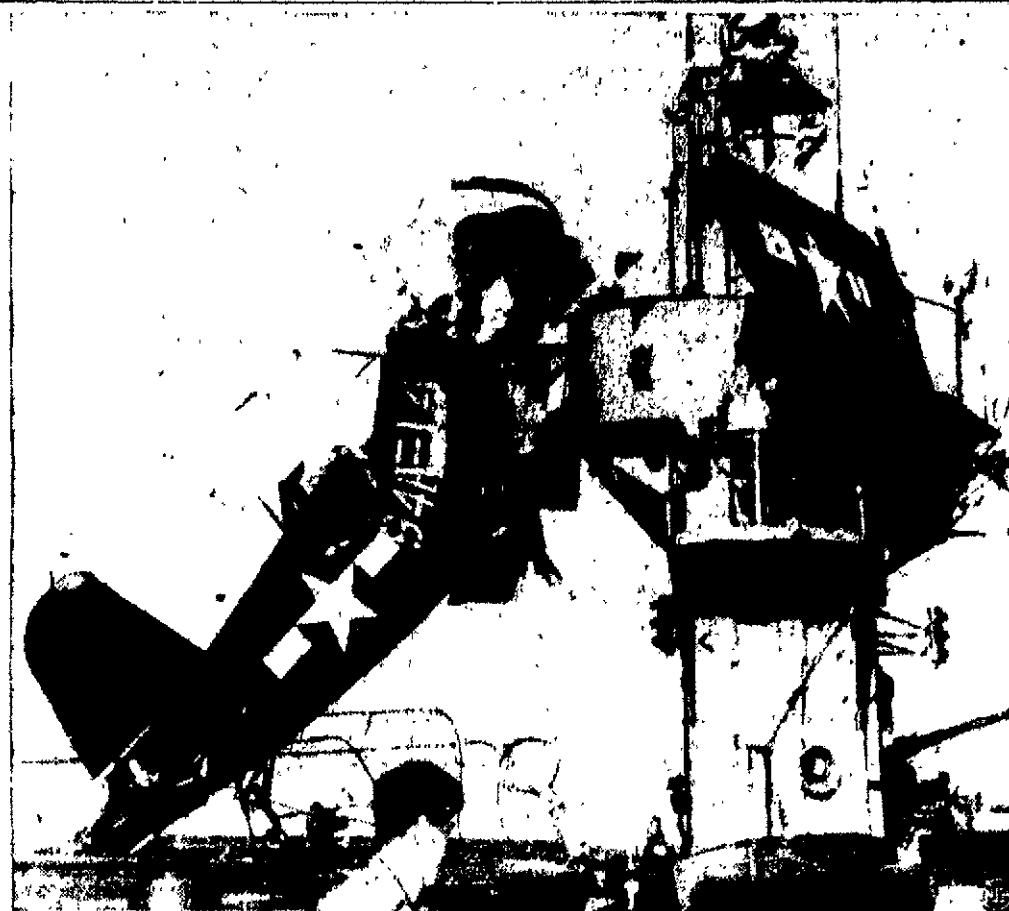

Chiropractors Elect

Syracuse, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—The New York State Chiropractic Society and its auxiliary will be headed for the next year by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Engelbert of Snyder. They were elected presidents of the groups yesterday at the 39th annual meeting. Other society officers: Vice presidents, Emil Usselmann of Rome, Ruegg W. Zwicker of Woodhaven and Frank Villeneuve of Syracuse; executive secretary, Sol Goldschmidt of New York city; treasurer, J. B. Helmar of Rochester; corresponding secretary, Patrick Sullivan of Astoria, and recording secretary, M. E. Blake of Rochester.

Dies in Auto Wreck

Reims, France, June 19 (AP)—Miss Francoise Magnol, daughter of the man who built the Maginot Line, died in a hospital yesterday after she was pulled from a wrecked, blazing auto. The auto struck a tree as she was on her way back from Reims where she saw the unveiling of a new monument to her father, former war minister Andre Maginot. The monument replaced one destroyed by the Germans in 1942.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland, June 17—The Misses Rosalee Haviland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeGrand Haviland, Jr., and Catherine Patrick, daughter of Anthony Patrick, are enrolled in the Katherine Gibbs School as resident students who start their work September 10.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mulford, Hackett, Poughkeepsie, were Wednesday night dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wright, Lent.

Chapter A, P.E.O., met Thursday with Mrs. Alvin Hendee in Newburgh.

Alvin Decker, town highway superintendent reported to the meeting of the board last week that he had looked over the Chodice road at the Busick property for drainage and that work had to be done on Merritt avenue before it would be accepted by the town. M. Cavello, Vineyard avenue, wanted to know when water for his house would be available. The recreation project was discussed and various organizations were being contacted for contributions. George W. Pratt Lumber Company was contributing the needed lumber for bath houses. P. J. Conforti reported the insurance would amount to $225 to cover various needs. Admission was charged but 50 per cent additional if admission was charged. The resignation of Lawrence Castellano as traffic officer at the lower corner was received. Town Clerk Callahan gave the amounts of monies received during the month and bills audited were ordered paid.

Carl J. Laryabee has been engaged as agriculture teacher for the Central School in place of R. D. Batty, resigned; Robert W. Schwedert is the new English instructor succeeding Miss Mary Dempsey; Miss Audrey Adolfaon in place of Mrs. Rose Flax in the commercial department; Francis V. Connolly in 7B grade in place of Joseph Mikosh. A new 3C grade is needed and Mrs. Shirley Harcourt Fowler is engaged for that grade and Miss Katherine Simone succeeds Mrs. Marilyn Moran in 2C grade. These constitute the newly hired instructors for next year's faculty.

Vineyard Rebekah Lodge will celebrate its 33rd anniversary Thursday, June 22. Plans for an especially large meeting with appropriate ceremonies are being made.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bradshaw and son, San Diego, Calif., arrived Friday for a week-end with the former's grandparents.

Won't Get Pension

Albany, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—Governor Dewey apparently will not be eligible for a state pension when he retires next Dec. 31.

Source: at the state employees' retirement system headquarters indicated Saturday that Dewey had not served as a public employee long enough, and he was not old enough. Basically, qualifications for a pension require 20 years' service or retirement at the age of 55. Dewey is only 48. It is estimated he has between 14 and 15 years' eligible service.

Mr. Oscar Jolisma told the story of "The Seven Stars" at the meeting of the Mission Circle Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Eliza Raymond. This gave the lives of seven young men and what Christianity and western civilization had accomplished.

The ones who listened and heeded the call to help others. In the absence of president and vice president Mrs. Franklin Walker conducted the meeting with devotions led by Mrs. A. W. Lent. Tea and cakes were served at the close of the meeting.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

George Barton, of Port Ewen, who enjoys the same view of the Hudson from his home as I did in my youth when I lived with my grandparents in Port Ewen, stopped in to tell me he has microscope pictures of local scenes such as the Dayline Landing of Kingston Point, one of the Riverside or Skillypot and others. For those of the 1920 generation, a stereoscope is a binocular optical instrument by means of which two pictures appear as one and stand out in relief. It was very popular in the 1920's. We all had one of those wooden contraptions, some covered with velvet for the nose pieces, in front of which on a moving stand we placed these double pictures. Most of us had boxes of those pictures, but they were mostly of national scenes, of New York city, or even European scenes, but so far I have never seen any of local items. Mr. Barton said that Emil Campbell, used to come up from Brooklyn to visit in Port Ewen, and had a camera which took these pictures. I certainly will enjoy seeing old local scenes in third dimension. I wonder if anyone has a camera that takes pictures like that?

When in Woodstock one can't help admire the setting sun on the Overlook Mountain. Judge Clearwater in his book published in 1907 says: "Parts of seven different states can be seen on a clear day from this summit, with some 70 miles of the Hudson which shimmers in the sunshine like a silver ribbon. The first hotel there was built in 1870, and opened by John E. Lasher in 1871. It was run by Lasher until 1873 when in the winter of that year it burned down. At length after the property stood idle for some three years it was purchased by the Kierstead brothers who built a hotel in 1876. It was then managed by Col. Smith for four years, and then succeeded by others.

George Mead was really the pioneer landowner of this mountain. In June, 1863, he began to build his hotel half way up the slope. The place was a dense wilderness and woodmen had built a small rude shanty in the clearing. Mr. Mead bought up his claim and began to entertain a few visitors in the fall of 1863. Christopher Agar and H. B. Schoonmaker are the first names on his old register which now contains a long list of names of eminent men and women of fame and importance. There

Prevent Forest Fires

There's a vital matter demanding attention. That is to remember forest fire prevention. Forest fires are planned. Your cooperation is in demand. The danger of forest fires are hazardous. A small fire can be very destructive. It takes a minute to take home care. As a good citizen do your share. The outdoors is for your pleasure. Enjoy it but with a safety precaution. Be on the alert and do your duty. Protect the forests, preserve their beauty.

Plan your outfit, but be on guard. Leave no rubbish around it, not very hard. Everyone can enjoy the wide open spaces. By being extra cautious in outdoor places.

was then only an old Indian trail from his hotel to the Overlook crest. In 1869, Mr. Mead raised money from some Kingston business men and built the first wagon road up the very steep slope. This road was afterward improved by the hotel company and was well kept for some years at considerable expense. The Mead Hotel was the first mountain house built south of the Kaaterskill Clove. It has since been much enlarged and now in charge of W. S. Mead, the son. The Overlook House is about 500 feet higher than any other hotel in the state, and the air is always cooler than any other point in the Catskills.

Man Is Killed

Wichita, Kas. June 19 (AP)—Armed with ice-picks and a crowbar, two brothers last night found a bloody dead man lying on a bed with a wound in his heart and put the other in a hospital. Dead is John Evans Bass, Jr., 36, failed by an ice-pick wound. His brother, Paul Raymond Bass, 20, suffered a fractured skull, cuts and bruises.

MENU PLANNING CUTS DRUDGERY

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

The job of getting the family dinner in hot weather can be a lot easier if you plan your menus in advance. You also save money this way by preventing waste of food. Choose foods that are plentiful and use interesting menus. Then summer cooking will be less strenuous and more rewarding.

The following budget menus have been worked out by nutritionists and family food experts. You'll like some of them for your family.

Dinner: Broiled kidneys, rice with bacon, canned peas, beet cup salad, bread, butter or fortified margarine, lemon sponge cups, coffee, milk.

Beet Cup Salad
Scoop out pulp from 5 or 6 medium whole cooked beets, leaving a thin wall. Chop beet pulp and combine with one onion, minced, and one cup of shredded cabbage. Moisten with French dressing. Pile into beet cups and serve on lettuce leaves.

Dinner: Beef rolls, parsley rice, steamed greens, sliced tomatoes, bread, butter or fortified margarine, raspberry ice, coffee, milk.

Dinner: Chicken pie with vegetable, pineapple, cole slaw, hot rolls, butter or fortified margarine, cinnamon coffee cake, coffee, milk.

Dinner: Beef liver with tomato sauce, baked sweets, peas, green salad, bread, butter or fortified margarine, chocolate cake squares, coffee, milk.

Dinner: Baked stuffed tomatoes using frankfurters, succotash, steamed escarole, bread, butter or fortified margarine, baked caramel custard, coffee, milk.

Dinner: Broiled flounder, new potatoes, creamed spinach, carrot salad, bread, butter or fortified margarine, mixed fruit compote, coffee, milk.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Grape and grapefruit juice, shredded wheat, pecan rolls, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Creamed tuna and eggs on toast, cabbage and green pepper salad, frosted cup cakes, tea, milk.

DINNER: Grilled ham slice, scalloped potatoes, buttered lima beans, watercress salad, blackberry roll, cream, coffee, milk.

WALLKILL

Wallkill, June 19.—The Wallkill Chamber of Commerce is seeking funds for its latest community program for the children during the summer months, a swimming program on mornings weekly from July 10 to September 1. Children would be under the supervision of two Red Cross instructors. A bus would take them to Tilsen Lake at 8:45 a. m. and return about 12:45. Admission and all other charges would be paid from funds to be collected by the children. The program is for 10 years of age or older, while a supervised program for younger children will be held in the park in Wallkill. To make this a success for the children, generous financial support is needed. A goal of $400 in voluntary donations has been set. All contributions should be sent to Rudolph Griffl, treasurer of the recreation, or to any member of the chamber.

Kenneth Hasbrouck, a member of the Wallkill Central School faculty, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Wallkill Chamber of Commerce Monday night. His topic was "Historical Review of Wallkill and the Surrounding Area." Mr. Hasbrouck has written a number of historical articles on this area.

The Wallkill Girl Scouts held a court of awards Friday night in the community hall. Mrs. C. E. Penney presided. The program was presented by the Brownie Troop, followed by songs. The intermediate troops presented a program, after which Mrs. A. Hart, honorary commissioner of Ulster County Girl Scouts, spoke to the group. Senior Scouts Pat Dubeis and Margaret Brach sang a duet. Mrs. D. Hasbrouck, county training chairman, conducted investiture of Adult Scouts.

Mrs. Fannie Cregue is visiting her sister, Mrs. Carrie Boyce, at Stanley this week.

Awards made in the American Legion Auxiliary went to Mrs. John Keating, Harry Morehouse, Mrs. Doris Ross, Mrs. Evelyn Lawson, Mrs. Laura Ruger, and Mrs. Mae Lavello.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Decker spent the past week-end at the home of his brother, Edward Decker in Monroe.

The June meeting of the Women's Bible Study Class has been postponed until Tuesday, June 27, at the Community Hall.

Mrs. Joseph Kopf, public health nurse for the towns of Shawangunk and Gardiner, attended the annual New York State Public Health Conference at Lake Placid last week. Mrs. Kopf reports a total of 911 adults received chest X-rays at the Wallkill Central School which added to those X-rayed in Walker Valley, causes the town of Shawangunk to rank highest in Ulster county.

Miss Catherine Hotelling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hotelling of Wallkill was graduated from Central College, Pella, Ia., June 5. She will teach home economics beginning in September at the high school in Ragley, Ia. She was president of the Home Economics Club at Central during the last year.

The annual strawberry festival of the Reformed Church will be held in the community hall next Wednesday. This will consist of a cafeteria supper, featuring strawberry shortcake. The Wallkill Workers, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur Terrell and Mrs. Macey Van Wagenen, will prepare and serve the dinner, which starts at 6:30 p. m. until all are served.

At the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of Rose-Shepley Post of the American Legion Monday night, Mrs. Samuel Lawson was elected president for the coming year. Other officers elected were Mrs. Harry Keator, Jr., first vice-president; Mrs. Joseph Wickes, second vice-president; Mrs. Peter Sowa, secretary; Mrs. Walter Harris, treasurer; Mrs. Lawrence Prisco, sergeant-at-arms. Mrs. Charles Maley, past president was the installing officer. The executive committee comprises Mrs. Samuel Lawson, Mrs. Hugh Galbraith and Mrs. Jason Auchmoody. The county committee consists of Mrs. Samuel Lawson, Mrs. Charles Maley, Mrs. Walter Harris, and Mrs. Edward Low. Chaplains are Mrs. John Roach and Mrs. Chauncey McLean. Mrs. Edgar Kaup is Americanization chairman and Mrs. John Scavella chairman of the Legion Mountain Camp committee. Other chairmen of committees appointed were Mrs. Chauncey McLean, cancer control; Mrs. Charles Maley, child welfare; Mrs. Jason Auchmoody, community service; Mrs. J. Ross, Sr., constitution and by-laws; Mrs. Harold Daley, Sr., coupons; Miss Edna Tice, education of war orphans; Mrs. Harry Keator, Jr., Empire State News; Mrs. Clifford Caswell, Mrs. Samuel Lawson and Mrs. Edward Low, finance committee; Mrs. Harry Keator, Jr., girls' state; Mrs. Harry Morehouse, historian; Mrs. H. Conklin, junior activities; Mrs. Edgar Kaup, legislative; Mrs. Samuel Lawson and Mrs. Ray Sheeley, membership; Mrs. Walter Harris, music; Mrs. Samuel Lawson, national security; Mrs. Lawrence Prisco, pan American study; Mrs. Clifford Caswell, past president; Mrs. Everett Cameron, poetry; Mrs. Peter Sowa, radio and publicity; Mrs. Edward Low and Mrs. George Geyer, rehabilitation.

The Rev. George Hann was named president of the Footlight Club at its regular monthly meeting at the central school Wednesday night. Mrs. Kenneth Coons was elected vice president, Miss Margaret LaRossa, treasurer; Mrs. John Napolitano, recording secretary; and Mrs. Joseph Kazimer, corresponding secretary. There will be a banquet and installation of officers when the club resumes its activities in the fall. Mrs. Kenneth Coons, recording secretary, read several letters of congratulations from the New Hurley Church members grateful for the successful play. Ring Around Elizabeth, put on this spring by the club for the benefit of the church hall fund. The church realized about $370.

Miss Helen Lyons, dramatic instructor at Wallkill Central School, was chosen to direct the fall play.

Takes Over Presidency

Detroit, June 19 (AP)—A Canadian investment banker takes over the presidency of Rotary International today. He is Arthur Laguard of Quebec, who succeeds retiring President Percy Hodgson as head of the 340,000-member service organization. The election of officers was one of the first items of business after the first plenary session of Rotary's 41st annual convention got under way today. Some 6,500 delegates are attending.

Like 'Sea of Mud'

Harlowton, Mont., June 19 (AP)—Parts of this central Montana town looked like a "sea of mud" today in the wake of a flash flood which left one dead and damaged more than a score of homes. A 12-foot wall of water from a cloudburst in nearby hills smashed the lower part of town late Saturday. The flood victim was Mrs. Ed Bacon, about 62. She was trapped in her ranch home.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

First Trick Is Tricky In College Tourney

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service
One of the most unusual bridge events of the year is the annual Intercollegiate Tournament. This year 151 colleges in 42 states competed in the early rounds of this tournament. Students from 16 colleges won their way to the Chicago finals, held in April.

More than 1200 college students had a chance in the early rounds to show their skill with this hand. A very large number bid and played it correctly.

At most tables, the opening lead was the queen of diamonds. If South took this first trick he received a nice round zero. The correct play is to allow West to hold the first trick with the queen of diamonds. South wins the king of spades and gets out salo by returning a spade or club. Having lost a diamond and a spade, South must make sure to lose only one heart trick. After drawing three rounds of trumps, declarer runs all of the clubs, ending in dummy. He then leads the jack of hearts and lets it ride for a finesse.

West can win with the queen of hearts, but is then helpless. If he returns a heart, dummy will win a trick with the ten. If West returns his only remaining suit (diamonds), dummy can tuff while South discards his remaining low heart.

The reason South gets a zero for winning the first trick is that this allows the opponents to upset the declarer. For example, suppose South wins at the ace of diamonds at the first trick and goes to dummy with a club to take the king finesse. West wins with the king of spades and puts his partner in with a diamond. East is then able to lead a heart. This cooks declarer's goose.

If South takes his ace of hearts, he must eventually give up two tricks in that suit. If he plays low, West wins with the queen of hearts and returns a spade or a club. Thereafter West waits patiently to take the setting trick with his king of hearts.

Peaches, Pears Are Fewer

Albany, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—The State Agriculture Department estimates the 1950 peach and pear crop in New York will fall below last year's harvests. The department said yesterday reports indicated a crop of 1,023,000 bushels of peaches, 28 per cent less than last year's yield and 23 per cent below average. The pear crop is expected to total 984,000 bushels, the department said. This is 18 per cent less than the 1949 return, but 15 per cent above the 10-year average.

High Tax Rates Forecast

New York, June 19 (AP)—An all-time high basic real estate tax rate of $3.08 per $100 of assessed valuation is indicated for New York city. A jump of 19 cents from the current rate of $2.89—which has not varied since 1947—was estimated yesterday by Comptroller Lazarus Joseph for the fiscal year starting July 1. The new tax rate will be fixed this week by the city council.

Mabel Fisher Busy In Union Affairs At Nation's Capital

Mrs. Mabel Fisher, business agent for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union in this area, has been spending some time in Washington, D. C., in behalf of her union and the C.I.O. Council in the Washington area.

She attended the President's Conference on Industrial Safety as well as a three-day C.I.O. institute on community services.

During the past week, with the Senate on the point of passing a new Social Security act, Mrs. Fisher has been working with other representatives of the C.I.O. and A.F.L. to have amendments introduced to further improve the act as reported by the Senate Finance committee. The Social Security bill is scheduled for a vote in the Senate Tuesday.

She also attended a rally of 350 C.I.O. Union presidents and Political Action leaders June 16 at the Hotel Willard in Washington, where a discussion of the organization's drive to elect a pro-labor Congress next November was held. This conference was addressed by President Philip Murray and other prominent C.I.O. leaders and Joseph Keenan, director of the A.F.L. Labor's League for Political Education. Following the rally delegates were received by President Truman at the White House.

Carburetor Too Rich Makes Motorist Too Poor

Car owners who are wasting money and not getting proper gas mileage due to over-rich mixtures will be pleased to learn of a Wisconsin inventor who has developed a very clever unit that helps save gasoline by "vacuumating." It is automatic and operates on the supercharge principle. Easily installed in a few minutes. Fits all cars, trucks, tractors. The manufacturers, the Vacuumatic Carburetor Co., 2617-618-1, State St., Wausau, Wis., are offering a Vacuumatic to anyone who will install it on his car and help introduce it to others. They will gladly send full free particulars if you write them or just send your name and address on a penny post card today.

Mr. Oldchapp (earnestly)—I wished many times lately that I had a wife.

Miss Antique—Have you really?
Mr. Oldchapp—Yes. If I had a wife she'd probably have a sewing machine and the sewing machine would have an oil can and I could take it and oil my office door. It squeaks horribly.

Turk Loses His Turtle

By FRANK TRIPP

When Turk's turtle met an uncommon fate, I remembered my own juvenile acquaintance with turtles; and with rabbits and pigeons, too. I sympathized with him, for my experience was bizarre and discouraging.

Our six-year-old grandson staggered half asleep into the bathroom, around midnight. His baby sister's nurse happened to be at hand and gave him a lift with what buttons remained on his pajamas. He awoke as just as they could be sewed on.

As he arose to return to his bed, something fell out of his pocket and landed on the toilet. Some pitying the nurse thought, but whatever it was, it was too late to retrieve it.

"It's gone," said the nurse. "What was it?" Turk cried, and made a fuss that roused the household. He returned to his covers with empty pockets, sobbing. His strange behavior was gone.

We have known for long time that it is wise to inspect Turk's pockets. We learned that the lake where seven grandchildren live all Summer within a stone's throw of the house that Fanny and I picked many years ago for its peace and quiet.

That was before we knew that seven of our grandchildren were girls with heads, to wit Indians with bows and arrows—would descend upon that hour and be-lieve it, very particularly the ladder.

TURK, when he grows up, if he makes it, will bear my name. He shows signs of becoming a fisherman. We can't keep stopping stones within a foot of his nest—thing spot. He turns them all over, looking for fish worms. And he does the same thing in neighbors' yards, which doesn't seem to endear him to the small community.

He goes on his expeditions before he thinks to provide a can to contain his catch. No net for one. He just puts the worms in his pockets—with a little mud to keep 'em fresh and pliable. Lik as not, with a couple of pebbles full of worms and dirt, he'll shut off on some other major project and forget to go fishing.

After the Rendix had been plugged up a few times with small stones, dirt and nightwinkers, it was decided that a close inspection of Turk's pockets was indicated.

The turtle could have landed in the washer, along with a few big green worms, sinkers, a fly rock bass, countless crushed beetles, a bumblebee, even the key to the

MT. TREMPER

Mt. Tremper, June 17—About 40 members of the Mt. Tremper Grange enjoyed a picnic at North Lake last Sunday.

Mrs. Edward Hudler, Sr., was a visitor in Kingston Wednesday. A regular Grange meeting was held Monday night when plans were made to hold weekly dances at the hall beginning June 29.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Raschke of Kingston spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hoffman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Keiser of New York visited his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Keiser.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schuchman of Long Island are spending several days at their summer home here.

Several Grange members attended the revolving scholarship fund meeting Wednesday night at the Rosendale Grange hall.

Mrs. Alfred Schleigel has returned to her home here after a two weeks visit helping care for her sister-in-law who has been ill at her home in New Jersey. Her nephew returned home with her.

Mrs. Harry Carle has returned home from New York where she has been spending a few weeks.

Cornerstone Relaid At Bell Tower Site, D.A.R. Announces

The Memorial Bell Tower project at Valley Forge Park, Pa., to which the Junior Group of Wilkes-Barre Chapter, D.A.R., voted to contribute $100 in May, 1947, was started on the road of completion today as Miss James B. Patton, president general, relaid the cornerstone in an impressive ceremony. It was a significant day in D.A.R. history.

The Memorial Bell Tower will be constructed of stone, in keeping with the Washington Chapel. It will stand 95 feet in height. The first cornerstone for the tower was laid on April 13, 1944, by Mrs. William H. Pouch, who was president general at that time. Since then, however, under the revision of plans for construction of the tower, it was necessary to relaid the cornerstone.

The $100 given by the Junior Group of Wilkes-Barre D.A.R. was to describe the name of Lieutenant John D. Snyder on the honor roll in the Memorial Room of the tower. Lieutenant Snyder, who was killed while on active duty in the European Theatre of Operations on Oct. 26, 1944, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Snyder of 16 Lafayette avenue, and the brother of Mrs. Alfred W. Harder, a member of the Junior Group.

Construction of the Bell Tower groups 20 years of effort to secure a suitable place to house the renowned Washington Memorial National Carillon which will consist of 49 bells, one for each state and a National Birthday Bell.

Recent Bride

Mrs. Malcolm Austin Sanborn is the former Anna Margaret Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Brown of 15 Ravine street. She was wedded Saturday in St. Peter's Church, and will live in Charlottesville, Va. (Pennington Photo)

Anna Brown Weds New Hampshire Man

Miss Anna Margaret Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Brown, 15 Ravine street, became the bride Saturday of Malcolm Austin Sanborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart D. Sanborn, Laconia, N. H., in a double ring ceremony at St. Peter's Church with the Rev. Henry E. Herdgen officiating.

The church was decorated with gladioli, and the organist played traditional wedding music. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin with a bodice of Chantilly lace, long pointed sleeves, and a cathedral train. She carried an heirloom handkerchief of rose-point and duchess lace. Her head-dress was a helmet of satin, Chantilly lace and seed pearls with a fingertip veil. Her bouquet was a cascade of lilies of the valley and ivy.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Frank Cashin, 91 Emerson street, cousin of the bride, who wore white organdy trimmed with blue leaves, over ice blue tulle and a picture hat of blue horse hair. She carried a cascade of ivy.

Gordon B. Sanborn of Laconia, N. H., the groom's brother, was best man. Two other brothers, Russell H. and Laurence I. Sanborn were ushers.

After a reception at Judge's for members of the immediate family, the couple left for a wedding journey to the New England states. For traveling the bride wore a pink suit with white accessories. The couple will live in Charlottesville, Va.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and Becker Junior College, Worcester, Mass. The groom was graduated from Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, Mass., and is now attending the Institute of Textile Technology, in Charlottesville. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gross of the Governor Clinton Hotel recently attended the graduation of their son, Thompson Gross, from Lafayette College, Easton, Pa.

Joseph J. Duseh of 43 Garden street, was guest of honor at a bon voyage party last week. He sailed Tuesday on the S. S. Atlantic for a Holy Year pilgrimage to Rome, and plans also to visit Paris, and Oberammergau where he will attend the famous Passion Play.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren R. Suydam of Richmond Hill are spending their vacation in this vicinity.

West Hurley Pupils Give Entertainment

The annual end-of-the-year entertainment of the West Hurley school was presented last Wednesday in the West Hurley Methodist Church Hall and featured drills, songs, recitations and a musical.

The first part of the program consisted of drills, songs and recitations by the pupils of Mrs. Etienne's room, and part two featured the fifth, sixth and seventh grades. This continued, as an added feature, a musical.

The third part featured the eighth grade—Joseph Banks, salutatorian, Charles Stoutenburg, reader of the class prophecy, Lewis Kellerhouse, reader of the class will, and Elaine McMahon, valedictorian.

William C. Russell said much credit was due Mrs. Lulu Joyce for her untiring work in drilling the pupils, designing costumes, and playing the accompaniments. He also said that several others had been "generous of their time" and that the "beautiful baskets of flowers were greatly appreciated."

Playhouse Committee

The Kingston Committee for the Woodstock Playhouse will meet tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Henry L. Bibby, 92 Wall street. It is important that all members attend.

Virginia I. Hoppenstedt Becomes Bride Of Horace J. Rundell at Pine Bush Church

Miss Virginia Irene Hoppenstedt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Hoppenstedt of Pine Bush, was married Saturday to Horace Jeremiah Rundell of Wilmington, Delaware, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah E. Rundell of Hudson, in a ceremony at the New Prospect Reformed Church, Pine Bush. The Rev. Robert Clements officiated.

The church was decorated with white field flowers and laurel. Miss Joyce Knode of Conshohocken, Pa., cousin of the bride, was soloist, and Harry Keiso of Walden was organist. The selections were traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported Swiss organdy with a Peter Pan collar, bodice of embroidered organdy with buttons down the front, a skirt in tiers ending in a train. Her illusion fingertip veil was caught to a lace Juliet cap. She carried daisies.

Miss Jeanne C. Freitag of Bright Waters, L. I., was maid of honor wearing a gown of maize organdy with a sweetheart neckline outlined with embroidery. She carried a natural straw basket of field flowers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Adeline Crawford of Pine Bush, Miss Suzanne MacMurray of Snyder, Miss Ruth Hoffmann of South Lancaster, Mass., and Mrs. Theodore Richardson of North Branch, N. J. They all wore orchid gowns of imported Swiss organdy, with sweetheart necklines outlined with embroidery, and carried natural straw baskets with field flowers.

Flower girls were the nieces of the bride, Sandra Lee Hoppenstedt, and Suzanne Hoppenstedt, both of whom wore gowns of green organdy fashioned very much like the bride's gown.

The best man was William S. Rundell, 730 Warren street, Hudson, brother of the groom, and ushers were Jeremiah A. Rundell of Hudson, son of a brother of the groom, Dr. Clifford H. Hoppenstedt of Gardiner and Dr. Gilbert E. Hoppenstedt of Kingston, both brothers of the bride, and Allan P. Walsh of Hartford, Conn.

After the reception for 130 guests at the Mid-Mont Inn, Middletown, the couple left for a tour of the New England states. For traveling the bride wore a suit of aqua silk shantung with brown and white accessories and a corsage of yellow daisies. They will live at 618 Concord avenue, Wilmington.

The bride was graduated from Pine Bush Central High School and the Russell Sage College, Troy. She was assistant Usher county 4-H Club agent.

The groom is a graduate of Hudson High School and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy. He is affiliated with E. J. du Pont in Wilmington. A member of Theta Chi and Phi Delta Epsilon, he served in the navy during the war.

unless any sent flowers and couldn't be at the funeral. In that case your writing would not be so much to thank them, as to let them know the flowers were beautiful, or perhaps to tell them what you thought with the money they sent.

Desert Silver
Dear Mrs. Post: When dessert will require a spoon and this is to be put on the table with the other silver, where should it be placed?
Answer: Horizontally above the plate with the handle turned toward the right.

In what order should table silver be placed; is colored linen appropriate; should dolies be used? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but the above questions are answered in her booklet, No. 504, "Table Setting." To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Miss Grace Elizabeth Wilgus Marries Major P.A. Petito in Occupied Germany

In a civil ceremony performed in occupied Germany, Miss Grace Elizabeth Wilgus, daughter of Henry A. Wilgus of High Woods, was married Saturday to Maj. P. A. Petito, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Petito of Chicago. The wedding took place in Frankfurt with a wedding breakfast afterwards at the Kronberg Castle.

The bride wore a navy suit with a cream colored hat, with a veil, and carried cream colored roses. Maid of honor was Miss Dorothy Nyquist of St. Paul, Minn., who wore a beige suit with navy accessories and carried red roses.

The ceremony was performed by German civil authorities.

Best man was Capt. Vincent G. Tomei of Pittsburgh.

The couple will spend two weeks in Switzerland, the Italian Riviera, Rome, Capri and other sections of southern Europe, before returning to Frankfurt.

Mrs. Petito was graduated from Saugerties High School, class of 1943. Before going to Europe, she was secretary to N. Janson Fowler, Kingston attorney. Overseas, she was employed with the Anti Task Force until its "phase-out."

Now she is secretary to the chief of the Legal Advice Division, Office of the U. S. High Commissioner for Germany, in Frankfurt. The groom was graduated from American College and Illinois Tech, both in Chicago. He was commissioned in the army in 1941, and went overseas in January, 1942, with the American Division. He saw combat on Guadalcanal and then volunteered for Merrill's Marauders in Burma in 1943.

Upon his return to the States, he taught tactics in Infantry School at Ft. Benning, Ga., and later was assigned to the Counter Intelligence Corps. He attended the Intelligence school in Baltimore, Md., and was sent to Italy, and later to Frankfurt. He is now commanding officer of the 66th Counter Intelligence Corps Detachment, Region III, Frankfurt.

Molyneux to Talk At Disability Law Parley on Tuesday

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with other area civic groups, will sponsor the Poughkeepsie Area Institute on the Disability Benefits Law which will be held Tuesday in Poughkeepsie.

Miss Mary Donlon, chairman of the New York State Workmen's Compensation Board, has assigned top-flight personnel from her staff to the institute.

Miss Donlon's staff will assist employers, employees, physicians and insurance agents, brokers and claim representatives of Poughkeepsie and the surrounding area in complying with the regulations of the new social insurance law which becomes fully effective July 1.

Included in the list of speakers will be Abram F. Molyneux, Jr., of Kingston, one of the 60 field representatives appointed by Miss Donlon to serve in every county in the state.

A group session for personnel staffs of employers and claims staffs of insurance companies will be held from 9:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. in the Hudson Room of the Hotel Campbell. Another conference will be held during the same hours for employee representatives in the Art Gallery of the Hotel Campbell.

Another session for insurance agents and brokers will take place from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. in the Hudson Room while Poughkeepsie area physicians will confer in the art gallery from 2 to 4:30 p. m.

The institute will be sponsored by the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Chambers of Commerce and other civic groups in Beacon, Big Indian, Chester, Ellenville, Esopus, Florida, Goshen, Haines Falls, Highland Lake, Highland Mills, Hurley, Kingston, Lanesville, Marquetteville, Maybrook, Middletown, Monticello, Montrose, Newburgh, New Paltz, Olive-Stockton, Pawling, Pine Hill, Port Jervis, Putnam Valley, Red Hook, Roscoe, Walden, Wappingers Falls, Warwick, Waukeganville, White Lake, Windale, Woodridge and Wurtsboro.

STONE RIDGE

Stone Ridge June 17.—The public health nursing committee of the Town of Marbletown will be held at the town garage June 20 at 8 p. m.

Luther Garrison has returned to his home from the Benedictine Hospital following an operation.

Robert Service, accompanied by Mrs. Service, was one of the guests of honor at a Kingston High School faculty dinner at the Nieu Dorp in Hurley Wednesday night. Mr. Service, who has been connected with the high school since it was built in 1915, is one of the three teachers who is retiring from active teaching at the end of the present school year.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl McMullen and Mr. Margaret M. Yates, of Schenectady, are spending the week-end with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Huntington. Mrs. William Oakley of Ellenville, county president of the American Legion Auxiliary, installed the newly elected officers of Marbletown Post 1512, American Legion Auxiliary, at St. Peter's Parish Hall Thursday night. The new officers are Helen Patrick, president; Augie Altieri, first vice-president; Margaret Bryant, second vice-president; Viola Kornstone, secretary; Helen Sutton, treasurer; and Mae Donnelly, chaplain. Thomas Donnelly, past commander, installed the officers of the Legion Post at the same meeting.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Peter's Episcopal Church held its regular monthly meeting June 12 at the parish hall. Ten members were present. Plans were made for a puppet show to be held July 26 at the Grange Hall.

Nurse Group Holds 31st Birthday Party

Miss Dora Burns and Miss Kathryn McGraw, graduates of the Benedictine Hospital who became members of District 11 in June of 1922, attended the 31st birthday of District 11, New York State Nurses' Association, at a dinner June 13 at the Pine Tree Inn at Middleboro.

Guests of honor included Mrs. Mabel Detmold, president of the association; Miss Dorothy Clark, Public Health nurse section chairman; and Miss Mary Perrow, state chairman of general duty nurses.

District 11 was organized in 1919 to promote the interests of nursing and improve nursing service covering the counties of Ulster, Greene, Orange, Sullivan and Rockland.

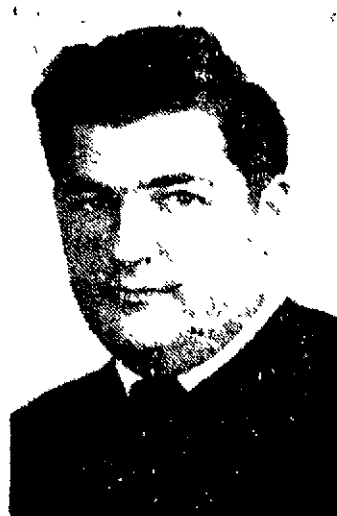

Thirteen members were the alumnae association of Kingston Hospital, St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, Middletown State Hospital and individual members.

Preparing for Baby-Sitter Forum June 28

At a meeting of the Baby Sitters Committee of the Ulster County Safety Council, teen-agers and advisers lay plans for an all-day "sitting" forum to be held at the Kingston High School Auditorium June 28 from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. under the sponsorship of the Home Safety Division of the Ulster County Safety Council.

'Sitter Institute' Will Help Parents As Well as Sitters

Inexperienced and experienced baby-sitters throughout the county are invited to attend a "Baby Sitters Institute" to be held in Kingston High School auditorium June 28 from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. under the sponsorship of the Home Safety Division of the Ulster County Safety Council.

Mothers of sitters and mothers of babies will also find much important and interesting material for them at this training school.

Among the speakers will be Mrs. Edmund Galt, mother of two children who taught during the war in Washington Lee High School, Arlington, Va. and who is at present working in Albany towards a master's degree. Her topic will be "Responsibility of the Parent Toward the Baby Sitter."

Baby sitting is a rapidly growing occupation engaged in chiefly by teen-agers, the council said that until the war it time there has been virtually no place for it.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Peter's Episcopal Church held its regular monthly meeting June 12 at the parish hall. Ten members were present. Plans were made for a puppet show to be held July 26 at the Grange Hall.

Swallows Dog—Trouble

McKeesport, Pa., June 19 (AP).—When a man bites a dog, that's news; but when a little girl swallows one, that's trouble. Five-year-old Carl Ann Moke is in McKeesport Hospital awaiting an operation that will remove from her stomach a small glass dog, about an inch and a half long.

The youngster was playing with the dog in her mouth when she slipped and swallowed it. Doctors said her condition is fair.

Two Girls Are Drowned

Eagle, Colo., June 19 (AP).—Two teen-age girls were swirled to their death in the rocky rapids of a mountain stream near here yesterday while the frantic mother of one screamed futilely for help. Both girls came from socially prominent Denver families.

The body of Cheryl Musick, 14, was recovered. A search for the body of Nancy Schrepperman, 13, will be resumed today. The girls and Mrs. J. Roger Musick went out on a rubber raft on a placid stretch of the stream. They lost control and the raft was caught in swift current moving into a boiling rapid.

All three tried to jump. Mrs. Musick managed to grab a protruding branch and saved herself. But the fast-moving waters prevented her from aiding the girls.

Mining Key Roads, Report

Frankfurt, Germany, June 19 (AP).—The western allies are reported mining key roads and bridges throughout west Germany and other parts of Europe to stall any possible Soviet attack. These preparations came to light yesterday when a German magazine published pictures of a winding highway around a mountain in the French zone. The pictures showed a row of poles braced with concrete caps. Explosive charges dropped into the holes would tumble the highway into the Rhine at one of its narrowest points.

Judy Garland Suspended
Hollywood, June 19 (AP).—Suspension has been placed on Judy Garland out of a film role for the second time in a year. Her studio, M-G-M, said she has been suspended for failure to report for work Saturday in a picture in which she was working with Fred Astaire. A statement to the press said M-G-M, which is owned by Warners, is suspending Garland in "Annie Get Your Gun" last year after the latter was suspended.

Colonials Win One Game Over Weekend to Stay Four Behind Chiefs

McKever's Four-Hitter Stops Bristol Owls, 3-2

Chez Emile, Boulevard Gulf Notch Fourth Victories

Clubs Deadlocked With 4-1 Records In Two League

Bill Tefft, newest addition to the Kingston Colonial pitching corps, makes his debut against the Bristol Owls tonight at municipal stadium as Manager Galt's tossers get down to serious business of doing something about their four game deficit to the league-leading Poughkeepsie Chiefs.

The Torrington Braves lent a helping hand last night by sweeping a doubleheader from the Chiefs, but Kingston could do no better than one victory in three week-end starts to remain four games off the pace.

Lefty Bill McKever and Sam Piacentino collaborated for a 3-2 victory over Bristol in the seven-inning opener before 580 fans last night at the stadium, but the Owls got brilliant pitching from Dick Hammock to capture the nightcap, 7 to 2.

Carmen Donato, Torrington's brilliant young rookie who leads from Newburgh, won a 4-2 decision over Frank Navratil Saturday night in Torrington.

McKever Wins 6th
Lefty Bill McKever won his sixth decision of the season with a sparkling four-hitter in Sunday's opener. The only damage was a two-run homer by Manager Al Barilli in the fourth inning. Argow got a life on Harvey Porter's nose and Barilli blasted one over the left field fence.

In the Colonial third Hurri booted Aspromonte's grounder. Rudy Karson singled and Harvey Porter walked to lead the sacks against Larry Cabrera, the No. 1 Bristol flinger. Sam Piacentino acquitted himself nobly in the role of cleanup hitter by riding a base-clearing double into the right center field alley for the 3-2 lead. Those were the only genuine threats against either pitcher.

Wildness drove Bob Kunze to the showers in the nightcap, although he would have had to pitch perfect ball to beat Dick Hammock, who was superb after a rocky first inning.

Piacentino ran his RBI total for the night to five by driving in Charlie Aspromonte and Rudy Karson with a single. Charlie walked, Karson walked and Harvey Porter singled and Sam's drive through the middle picked up two runs. Hammock induced Joe Spota to ground into a DP and then re-loaded the sacks with walks to Frank Merola and Nick Pepla. A hit at this juncture would have given Hammock the hook but he cooled Johnny Walker on a force play and the Colonials never got close after that.

Runs 10 Men
Hammock struck out ten and allowed only two hits after the first inning, a sixth inning single to Johnny Walker and Charlie Aspromonte's leadoff single in the seventh. Kingston loaded the bases via a hit batter and two walks with two out in the eighth but Hammock fanned Aspromonte to end the threat.

In addition to pitching a great game, Hammock delivered two singles, got a walk and knocked in three runs. Which is just about par for any pitcher.

Four of the nine walks issued by starter Bob Kunze figured in the Bristol scoring and Johnny Manopoli and Artie Applebaum added three more strokes to bring the total to a dozen for the Owls. Kunze was charged with the loss, his seventh and it was his first badly pitched game in the last four starts.

Bristol nailed down the decision with a three-run rally in the fifth. Hammock singled in two with the bases loaded and the fourth walk of the frame forced in the third marker.

Colonial Notes
Three members of the Bristol Owls were chased by Umpires Schindler and Dagle during the first game last night at municipal stadium. The clubhouse occurred in the fifth inning when Carlos Bernier, Bristol's speedster, was thrown out by Rudy Karson on an attempted steal. It was a close play and the Bristol "Gashouse Gang" disagreed violently with the call at second.

First Bernier was chased, then second baseman Dick Kelly for what the umpire termed ungentlemanly "language." Dick Buckley, a pitcher-coach for the Owls, got the hottest from the bench, while Kingston was battling in the same inning. Ed Musial hit a homer in the first game as the Hartford, Conn., June 19 (AP)—Trinity College yesterday graduated its largest class in history, conferring a total of 307 degrees, 10 of them honorary. Those presented honorary degrees included the Rt. Rev. W. B. Donegan, bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal diocese of New York and baccalaureate speaker, and Edwin P. Taylor, Jr., Syosset, N. Y., insurance broker.

• The season of the Royal and Ancient Frustration being in full bloom, it behooves your fairway correspondent to launch the 1950 golf literary season with: Hiya, duffer!

• Flotsam and Jetsam:
The 1950 season finds Kingston without an 18-hole golf course, a state of affairs that will cause no great concern among the local intelligentsia, but renders into shambles the historic letter we addressed to Mrs. Teresa Tiano of Flatbush from the Fiji Islands several months ago. Remember it? Gene Sarazen, the Squire of Germantown, who was willing to invest money in a "good 18-hole course" in or around Kingston, says the idea should not be permitted to die.

Charlie Gaffney's spectacular 78 at Twaalfskil last Thursday may prompt immediate surgery on the barrister's club handicap by the handicap committee, but we hope not. If Ed Stanley can hit two home runs in one day and Lee Mackey can blast a 50-year U. S. Open record with a sizzling 64, why can't Charlie shoot 78 on a hot day? Tommy Danaher's Member-Guest tournament at Whitwick was a success. We enjoyed a foursome with Alvin Belier, the city champion, Paul Maguire of Poughkeepsie and George Schick of Whitwick. Alvin and I accumulated enough strokes twice around the dogleg No. 6 to start a bank account. . . . Lost the tournament right there, but then there must be several other tandem who can make the same statement. When you buck headwinds on that hole, it's like spotting Sammy Sneed a few yards in a driving contest. Schick showed us the finest third shots we've seen in years.

• The Nineteenth Hole:
The Ladies of Twaalfskil will hold their annual auction at the clubhouse on Saturday, June 24, at 8 p. m. That's the same day Lew Smith supervises the Caledonia drawings. Mr. and Mrs. George H. Doh, who have had 18 years of catering experience, are serving luncheons at Whitwick for the first time in the history of the club. Pro Tommy Danaher says the response has been good. . . . All kids 14 or over who would like to be caddies are asked to report to Danaher at Whitwick. This is a good chance to learn the game at the right age. Don't wait until 30 and have to combat beris, scrofula, flat feet and short breath. We plan to rifle Alex Gerlach's scrapbook in a few days and come up with the life story of the popular Twaalfskil pro.

• U.S.G.A. Improved Handicapping:
The United States Golf Association revised its handicap system in April. One of the major changes is that of computing the handicap from the lowest 10 of a player's last 50 scores, instead of from the lowest 10 of an indefinite number of 50 or more scores. Scores not made on a player's home course are to be adjusted to compensate for the difference in course ratings. This system is as sound as any that can be devised but the "last 50 score" reference doesn't mean much to the majority of golfers. They don't play 50 games a year. Our guess as to the average number of rounds played annually by members of private courses is about 30. We wouldn't even make a stab at guessing what the average is for public and for course players per year in areas where golf isn't a year-round game.

Getting a handicap system that applies equitably to stroke and match play and to all classes of golf is an almost impossible job but in getting fairly close to it the U.S.G.A. committee has done a great deal of study. The outcome has been to provide golfers with a fair balance between respective degrees of skill and consistency. And all these efforts go down the drain pipe, too, unless the individual golfer honestly and faithfully reports all his rounds to the handicap committee.

Supreme Court Justice Harry Schickel was a surprise guest of honor at a tremendous birthday celebration Thursday at Twaalfskil. It was the 60th birthday for the rugged ex-Cornellian, who has developed the art of winning handicap matches on the first tee into a precise science from which there is no escape for those whose generosity exceeds their mathematical acumen.

Mangrum's Plus 37 Top In Palm Beach Tourney
New Rochelle, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—Wheeling along the road today toward Columbus, Ohio, and the Professional Golfers' Association championship is a guy who will bear watching—and not because he's loaded with fresh money.

Lloyd Mangrum rates as the man to beat in the P.G.A. event as he currently is the hottest thing in golf, with $8,100 in prize money to show for the last three weeks of play.

He picked up $3,000 yesterday by winning the ninth annual Palm Beach round-robin tournament, the sum going into the kitty along with the $2,500 he won for finishing second, after a playoff, in the National Open, and the $2,600 he pocketed in winning the Fort Wayne, Ind., Open the preceding week.

There was nothing fluky about the dapper guy's triumph. He demonstrated convincingly he was the best of the field of 16 star pros in every phase of the four-day, five-round event.

He had the highest point total, 37, with Lawson Little a distant second with 20 points.

His medal score of 344 for the five rounds was nine strokes better than that of the second low man in that department, Claude Harmon.

Clubs Deadlocked With 4-1 Records In Two League

Chezzies Nip McCormick In Nine-Inning Thriller

Chez Emile and Boulevard Gulf have moved into a virtual tie for first place with Jones Dairy after week-end victories in the City League's stepped-up schedule.

Chezzies had to travel nine innings to edge Old Capital Motors, 4 to 3, in the Saturday evening contest, while Boulevards had the share of trouble in downing Morgan's Rest, 5 to 3, Sunday evening.

As a result of the week-end play Chez Emile and Boulevard lost identical records of 4 wins and one defeat, while Jones Dairy is unbeaten in three starts.

Chilly weather reduced crowds considerably for both games.

McCormick Loses
Ernie McCormick, brooding New Paltz flinger, held a 3-1 lead at the end of the sixth inning Saturday, but Chezzies rallied with two in the seventh to tie the game and then won out in the ninth.

The Chezzies wrapped up the game quickly in the second extra inning on singles by Ken Lowe, Rod Sagerdorff and George Glaser. Sagerdorff, who went the distance and allowed nine hits, was the winning pitcher. He struck out eight, while McCormick had 11 strikeouts victims.

Ken Lowe blasted three singles for Chez Emile and George Glaser had a double in addition to his game-winning single. Decker, Jackson and McCormick each collected two hits for Old Capitals.

While a small gathering looked on in disbelief, Boulevard Gulf had to come from behind to snatch their 5-3 win over Morgan's.

Boulevards Rally
A four-run barrage by Boulevards in the fourth overcame a 3-0 Morgan bulge and the Gulfmen picked up insurance marker in the sixth.

Henry Levy, former K.H.S. and American Legion flinger, restricted the Boulevard sluggers to five hits and was the victim of shoddy support, the usual fate of Morgan twirlers. Boulevards got a big break in the second inning on Jerry Bechtold's smashed to third off "Tortorella's" first pitch, with the bases loaded and two out. The ball caromed off Umpire Schickel and Mike Rienzo was able to make a play at first base for the third out.

Three singles by Slover, Fred Schryver and Elmer Hopper accounted for Morgan's first run in the third. In the next frame, Freddie Schryver doubled home two runs with the bases loaded and the Morgan crew led 3-0.

Four-Run Rally
Boulevard's four-run rally in the fourth started with Buddy Tiano's single to right. Tierney singled Tiano to third and reached second on a passed ball. Ball dropped Alan Vogt's pop fly at second. Tiano scoring. Tierney scored on attempted double steal when Vogt was cut down at second. Scott's single and two more Morgan miscues furnished the third and fourth runs of the inning.

The fifth Boulevard tally had a ring of authenticity. Vogt doubled to center and scored on Scheffel's single.

Levy scattered the five Boulevard safeties among five players and struck out the same number. Vince Stoll and Fred Schryver had two hits apiece for Morgan's.

Police Nine Accept Baseball Challenge

The challenge has been accepted! The Kingston Police, through its president, Captain J. J. Burger, Jr., today accepted the challenge of John N. Cordis, Jr. to a baseball game this summer.

President Burger says that, if it's okay with Cordis, the game can be played on either August 29 or August 30 under the municipal stadium mounds.

The contest, Burger said, would serve as the annual promotion for the police department.

Strictly Baseball

Announcement of acceptance of the baseball challenge also allayed fears that the annual game would be a softball affair.

"No such possibility," said Burger, "this will be a baseball game and we'll recruit the en-

Gives Self Up

New York, June 19 (AP)—Benedetto Macri, 37, charged with last year's knife killing of Union Organizer William Lurie, gave himself up last night to Columbia University. The two met at a secret rendezvous arranged by a third party, unknown to Winchell. Then the columnist and radio commentator drove Macri to a Manhattan police station where he was booked for homicide. "I'm sorry to meet you this way," this is not a happy assignment for me," Winchell said he told Macri when they approached each other in the darkness. "I want to thank you," he said Macri replied.

Guerrillas Rout Reds

Taipei, June 19 (AP)—News reports from the mainland said today Nationalist guerrillas had driven the Communists into the major cities of mountainous Yunnan province. These accounts, which can not be substantiated here, said the Reds had lost 10,000 killed to the guerrillas in the Yunnan area, which is about the size of the state of Nevada in the U. S. The province is flanked by Burma and Indochina. Kunming, the capital, was an important U. S. base during the war. The re-

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Baseball Roundup

By JOE REICHLER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

"If we could only beat Boston we might have a chance."

This was Manager Red Rolfe's stock answer to spring queries regarding Detroit's pennant chances for 1950.

Rolfe knew what he was talking about. His Tigers won only seven games from the Red Sox in 1949 while losing 15. They finished fourth, 10 games behind the New York Yankees.

The Tigers have met the Red Sox a dozen times this far and have come off with nine victories. That is two more than they were able to win from Boston in their entire 1949 season. That, in a nutshell, is the chief reason why the Bengals are leading the rest of the American League by two full games today.

9th in 10 Starts

Detroit made it nine triumphs in the last 10 games yesterday—the sixth in succession over the Red Sox—by trouncing Boston, 10-2. Art Houtteman went all the way for his eighth victory. He allowed seven hits, but two of them were homers by Ted Williams and Vern Stephens to account for Boston's runs.

Despite the victory, Detroit's first place margin was shaved a half-game by the Yankees, who whipped the St. Louis Browns, 13-5 and 9-0, in both ends of a doubleheader in St. Louis.

Cleveland's Indians gained "Father's Day" for Connie Mack, baseball's oldest daddy, by blasting his Philadelphia Athletics twice, 7-0 and 21-2. After Bobby Feller blanked the A's with two hits in the first game, the Indians scored a record 14 runs in the first inning of the nightcap.

Dodgers Make Cards

Brooklyn's Dodgers climbed to within a half-game of the National League leading St. Louis Cardinals by whipping the Redbirds for the third straight time, 9-0. Philadelphia's third place Philies moved to within a game and a half of the top, tripping the Cincinnati Reds twice, 4-3 and 4-2.

The Giants trounced the Chicago Cubs twice, 6-0 and 10-5, to green up to within a half game of the fifth place Braves. Boston's Braves won their sixth straight, defeating Pittsburgh 8-6 in the first game of a doubleheader, the second was called after nine innings on account of darkness and a curfew law with the score tied at 8-8. The game will be replayed tonight.

The scheduled doubleheader between Washington and the White Sox in Chicago was postponed by rain.

Cleveland's 14 runs were the most ever made in the first inning. The previous high was 13 made by the Braves in 1930 and the Giants in 1911. The A's held the American League mark of 12, set in 1937. Three other clubs since 1930 tallied 14 runs in an inning.

It Says the Nicest Things About You!

There are few stronger urges in the human breast than that which grows out of the desire to stand well among our fellow beings.

And around this great basic emotion lies much of the appeal of a Cadillac car.

Alight from your Cadillac anywhere you will, in the presence of people, and certain splendid deductions are immediately made about you.

It could not be otherwise—for the wonderful people who own this car have made it so. In every community in America, a preponderant proportion of the leading citizens have long since turned to Cadillac.

Out of this close association, the car has partaken of the character of its owners until it has now become their symbol. It is recognized throughout the world as the all but automatic companion to outstanding personal success.

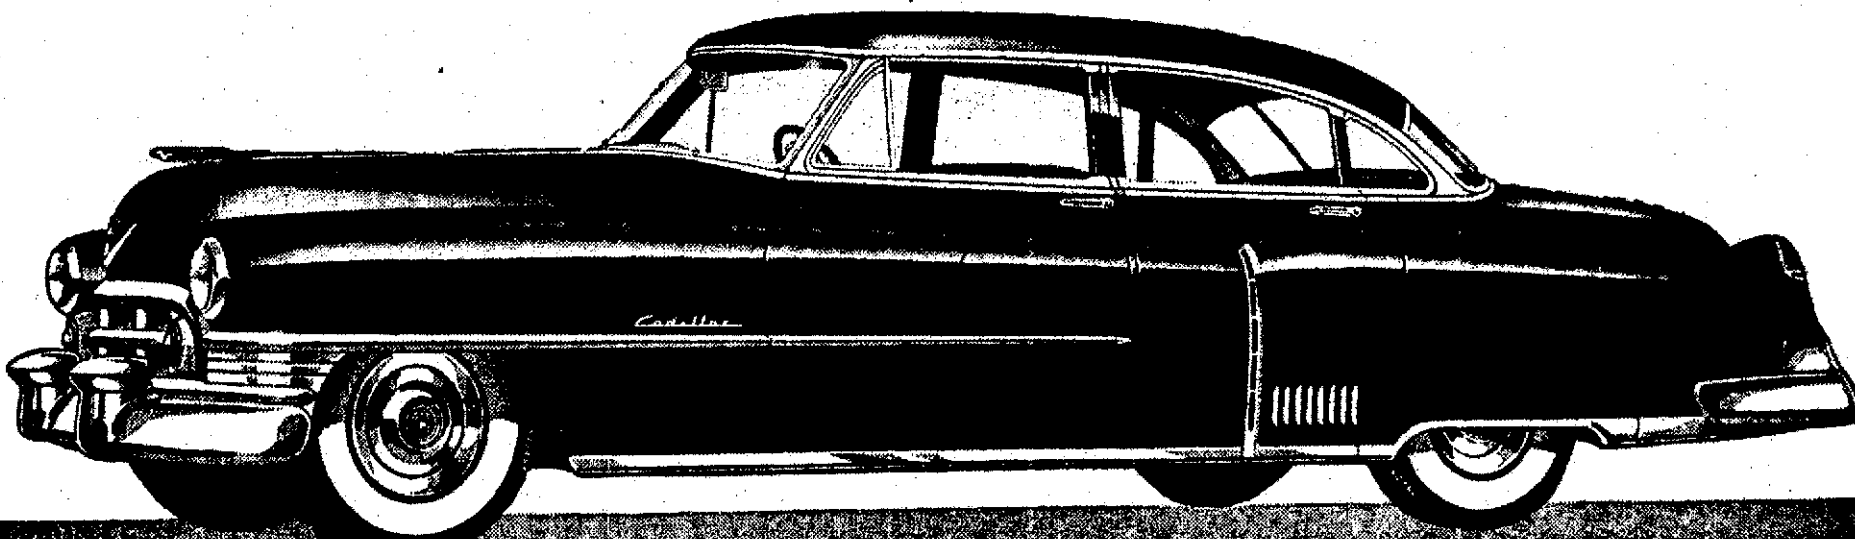

The genesis of all this, of course, is quality. For almost fifty years, Cadillac cars have been built to the highest standards it is practical to enforce in the production of a motor car. And people of achievement and discernment have sought them out as water seeks its level.

Today, Cadillac stands uniquely alone in the things it reflects upon its owner. It all but writes his biography!

Have you thought of a Cadillac car for yourself? If so, why not come in some day, quite soon, and talk it over?

We think you'd be surprised and delighted at how easy and practical it has now become to join the wonderful people who own and drive this wonderful car.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

The "cold war" has been, and is, the dominating factor in the stock market. In the Ruminator's opinion. From two angles:

1. It has caused a "war" boom and inflation.

2. From the long view, peace is bullish and actual war bearish.

It may seem at first reading that these two approaches are paradoxical—that one cancels out the other.

But, let us look at the seeming paradox a moment.

Because of the fear of Russian aggression the western European nations and the United States have felt compelled to go on the assumption that a shooting war might occur at any time. Moreover, because it has been impossible to penetrate the iron curtain or to sit down and discuss international problems with the Russians, numerous plans for the economic rehabilitation of western Europe have been thought essential. The cost of thwarting communism, because of this divided situation, has run into the stupendous total of billions of dollars.

Thus, the fact the Russians have jockeyed us into a defensive position has brought about a bolstered boom in business and a dangerous inflation.

So, we find that the effort to ward off a war has been a stimulant to earnings of corporations and to the ever-growing purchasing power of the public. Employment has remained at record levels and is giving every sign of staying up for some time to come. Granted that "dollars" are losing value, nevertheless people look upon a dollar as something to spend and so long as the dollars roll in weekly they will be spent and future incomes will be mortgaged.

Coupled with the bolstering influence of a "war atmosphere" is the added inflationary philosophy of the Truman State which subscribes to socialistic theories of forcing up the incomes of the farm population and of the "average" family. Housing, for example, that is a primary support to any economy, has been boomed into condition where over-building seems definitely to lie close ahead.

The foregoing suggests some of the influences that have come from the cold war—all of which add up to "inflation." It cannot be otherwise, because a large proportion of the business done today is upon government-stimulated supports.

From the second angle that peace is bullish and war bearish, I think if you will look back some months you will agree that although our foreign policy has been sadly lacking, perhaps, in a clear-cut policy, nevertheless we have taken the initiative and have not succumbed to an appeasement program. We have made it plain, I think, that we do not intend to be bluffed by Stalin or his henchmen. Many observers think we should have been more aggressive and more forthright in "telling Stalin off." The Ruminator feels that way himself; but at least we have in recent weeks spoken our piece pretty plainly.

Dating from the time in the winter when the President authorized the development of the hydrogen-bomb and the further production of atomic weapons, the stock market seems to have been discounting—to have been anticipating—a condition where the western nations come out on top in the cold war.

Every step that postpones a shooting war is bullish, the Ruminator believes.

In consequence, the seeming paradox runs up. Both a war program and a probable winding off of actual warfare are bullish on stock prices. I think that fundamentally this has been the underlying force in the market.

And—because this has been the underlying force, it has "fooled" the public and has kept people from reckless speculation. The public has not understood the halting force of a cold-war boom coupled with a probable long-range outlook which is against a shooting war.

However, it is likewise important to recognize that even a "war" market such as we have experienced can over-shoot the mark. Recent rapid advances in prices suggest that it might be overdue one of these days. There are also signs that the rising prices are bringing more of the public into the market. Speculation is appearing—its reawakening.

Accordingly, a certain amount of caution seems advisable now that the public may at last be catching the contagion of rising prices.

$100,000 Suit Filed

Middlebury, Vt., June 19 (AP)—A $100,000 allegation of affections suit has been filed against a wealthy Chicago socialist, Boris A. Suvoroff filed with suit against his mother-in-law, Mrs. Phyllis Ferguson Hoyt, 54, widow of an iron and steel broker, alleging she had seduced her son.

Thalia, 22, Mrs. Hoyt was served with the writ last Tuesday. She was unable to post $100,000 bond immediately and spent two days in Addison county jail.

House Committee

has-plus excise cuts it has approved.

This leaves a corporate tax boost as the only major area to get the $200,000,000 more needed to offset the excise cut. (Nobody is considering any increase in personal income taxes.)

Jump Is Suggested

Mr. Truman has suggested that the corporate tax rate be jumped from the present 38 per cent to 42 per cent, with an extra provision that would let the House apply only to the 10 per cent of corporations with annual net earnings over $120,000. Some smaller corporations actually would get tax reductions under his proposal.

If the Democrats hold together and finally produce a bill that the House and Senate will approve, and the President will sign, the excise cuts may become effective August 1 or September 1.

Damage Put at $2,000,000

Crooksville, O., June 19 (AP)—Damage caused by a flash flood that made hundreds jobless and temporarily homeless in six southeastern Ohio communities still was being uncovered today.

Best estimates place total damage caused by the flood at more than $2,000,000. One business block in nearby Rossview was condemned last night after it was found the waters had weakened walls of a dozen business establishments. Some 40 persons also made their homes in the area.

Hearing Is Adjourned

New York, June 19 (AP)—A Public Service Commission hearing on a proposal to erect a combined station and shopping center in place of the west-bound station of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad in New York City, was adjourned today.

June 26. The reason for the adjournment, granted in the P.S.C. office, was the entry into the hearing of the Mt. Vernon Terminal Shopping Area, Inc., which proposes to erect the new center it asked for time to prepare its case.

Mercury Stays Low

Albany, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—The mercury clung to record and near-record lows today in New York state—just two days before summer.

Overnight lows generally were in the 30s and 40s. Shoppers moved into the southern and western parts of the state. The lowest overnight reading was reported at Ulster, where the mercury dipped to 35. The Weather Bureau said the cool spell probably would continue until the latter part of the week.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.
Scouts Will Have Own Archway at June 30 Jamboree

Woodstock, June 19 — Woodstockers have played an important part in preparations for the contingent of Boy Scouts who will participate in the Second National Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., beginning June 30. Ten Woodstock Scouts are included in the delegation, the largest group to represent any troop in Rip Van Winkle Council and Woodstock craftsmen are responsible for the huge entrance archway which will front the campsite used by the local Scouts.

The Scouts are Bruce Reynolds and Edward Wright, Lee Carey, William Heckeroth, Carl Van Wagenen, Joseph Hilton, William Berkowitz, John Boswell, Peter Cohn and Werner Pollack. Carl Van Wagenen has been elected Patrol Leader of the Bear Patrol in Jamboree Troop 5. The Woodstock Square Club and the Woodstock Fire Company contributed generously to the Jamboree fund which made it possible for the scouts to participate in the greatest encampment of youth ever held.

The entrance archway was designed by Anton Refregier, noted artist and landscape designer, and was built by Clark Neher, local contractor. David Fairbanks is doing the actual painting of the display. The theme is Rip Van Winkle and the Catskill Mountain vacationland and portrays a figure of Rip over 12 feet high, dozing against a rock wall. The cost of the work has been subscribed by many of the Chambers of Commerce of the Catskill area as well as a number of hotel and boarding house owners.

The local contingent will en-train for Valley Forge June 29 at the Kingston West Shore station at 10:40 a. m. and will arrive at the Valley Forge reservation that afternoon. They will board a special train which originates in Utica and which will carry over 700 scouts and leaders from 13 councils in the Hudson and Mohawk Valley areas to the Jamboree.

Will Ask H-Bomb Funds
Washington, June 19 (AP)—Congressional sources said today President Truman will ask Congress for $300,000,000 to speed up work on the hydrogen bomb. A member of the House Appropriations Committee, asking not to be named, said the money would be used entirely for construction work at existing atomic energy commission installations, mainly at Oak Ridge, Tenn., Los Alamos, N. M., and Hanford, Wash. This informant said he understood Mr. Truman's request would be sent to the capitol in a day or two.

C. of C. Plans Report Of Members Tuesday

The membership committee of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce will have a report meeting at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Chamber office. President Robert E. Teetsel has asked each member of the committee to bring in his report or turn it in to his town captain.

In making this announcement today Teetsel said that the goal has not been reached, but that it is in sight. Since May 1, a total of 343 members have renewed their annual subscription. Thirty-seven new active memberships do not expire until fall and winter eight new promises have been turned in and 93 active memberships, due now or in the near future, are outstanding. This makes a potential current membership of 483.

President Teetsel pointed out that since the fall of 1949 a total of 73 new and additional duplicate Chamber memberships have been received.

Gets 20-Year Contract
New York, June 19 (AP)—The American Broadcasting Company today signed Don McNeill to a 20-year contract and called it "the longest continuing radio agreement ever signed with a radio personality." McNeill is tomorrow on the Breakfast Club program broadcast 8 to 9 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, Monday through Friday. McNeill, who has broadcast over A.B.C. for 17 years, also signed an A.B.C. television contract to start this fall. It calls for a night-time production once a week, probably using the Breakfast Club cast.

Nine Thought Drowned
New Haven, Conn., June 19 (AP)—Airplanes and coast guard craft searched Long Island Sound in vain yesterday for nine men who disappeared in three separate boating mishaps. All were believed to have drowned. Saturday's brisk breeze, making the sound's waters turbulent enough for small craft warnings to be displayed all day, was blamed for the accidents. One occurred off Niantic, one off Norwalk and the third about a mile from the Long Island shore, opposite Fairfield.
